Lylehaven Exhibits Supreme All-American

BY JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

HARRISBURG (Dauphin) — A nine-year-old, Canadian-bred entry of Lylehaven Holsteins, East Montpelier, Vermont, was named supreme champion in the dramatic finale to the 25th Harrisburg All-American Dairy Show.

The six breed champions from the show, which ran through last week at the Farm Show complex, circled before hundreds of spectators gathered in the large arena for the supreme champion award.

Making the selection was a panel of four distinguished Pennsylvania dairy judges: Harry Roth, Atlantic Breeders Cooperative; Obie Snider, president of the show's sponsoring Pa. Dairy and Allied Industries Association; Don Seipt, vice president of the National Holstein Association, and Lloyd Ebersole, Sire Power.

It was the second champion crown of the day for C Renvale Prestar Della, taking the supreme title just minutes after earning senior and grand champion honors from judge Loren Elsass, Wapakoneta, Ohio. The champion, a Leadfield Prestar daughter, was bred by Russell Hurren, and has production records over 27,300 lbs. milk and 1445 fat.

Reserve grand champion was the runner-up aged cow, Hanover Hill FM TT Marq I, bred and exhibited by Hanover Hill Holsteins, Port Perry, Ontario, Canada. The 7-year-old was also named best senior female bred and owned. She

Farming Most Hazardous; Medical Center Established

SYRACUSE, NY — Dr. David S. Pratt, Director of the newly established New York Center for Agricultural Medicine and Health at Bassett Hospital in Cooperstown, was a guest at the Northwest Farm Communicators annual meeting held here this week in conjunction with the Eastern Milk Producers Convention.

In his remarks, Dr. Pratt pointed out the striking disparity between farmers overall health and their alarming rate of job-related injury. "The good news is that farmers are generally healthier than other Americans. They die less often of heart disease, strokes and lung cancer... The bad news is that they suffer more deaths from accidents than others... Farmers are injured and killed at a rate four times greater than the average American worker."

In addition to the widely publicized accounts of farm-related accidents involving tractor overturns and power takeoff dismemberments, Dr. Pratt outlined some very serious, but less well known dangers that farmers endure. He cited several chronic health problems such as hearing loss, arthritis, skin cancer, bronchitis and other lung disorders as specific examples.

The overwhelming evidence pointing to significant health and safety issues related to farming must be viewed in the political context of the national health care agenda. "The Health Care Financing Administration... has stacked the deck against rural hospitals. According to the National Rural Health Association, the government spends 42% fewer dollars per capita in rural areas when compared to urban sites. If we are able to succeed in providing quality occupational health services for farmers, we must support equality in reimbursement for all rural health services."

Dr. Pratt concluded his remarks with a call to action. "As fragmented interest groups, we will fail, as a concerned agricultural commodity, we cannot help but succeed. He invited conference participants to join in "A barn raising of commitment to a safer, healthier world for farmers, farm workers and their families."

The New York Center for Agricultural Medicine and Health was recently established at Bassett Hospital in Cooperstown by the New York State Legislature in response to a bill sponsored by Assemblyman Michael J. Brag-

Farm-Dairy Organizations Announce Merger

Syracuse, NY — Describing it as a major advance for farmers, officers of three of the Northeast's leading farm-dairy organizations have announced the intent to consolidate farmer ownership of a key segment of the region's milk business.

Clyde E. Rutherford, president of Dairylea Cooperative Inc.; William A. Hiller, president and chief executive officer of Agway Inc.; and Leonard Wilson, president and chief executive officer of H.P. Hood Inc. announced plans for Dairylea to sell all of its plants, equipment, and distribution business to H.P. Hood Inc., a subsidiary of Agway Inc.

Dairylea, a 2,800 member dairy marketing cooperative based in Central New York, will invest a portion of the proceeds to acquire

Skawienski Family Named Quality Farmers

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — The Joseph Skawienski family of Varysburg, N.Y., has been named the 1988 Quality Farmers of the Year by Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative. Selected from over 3,000 farmers in nine states, the Skawienskis were honored at Eastern's annual banquet here this week.

Skawienski, wife Sophia and their three sons (Joseph, Stephan, Alan) work together -- each with specific tasks. Their teamwork has made the farm one of Eastern's best. Their 225 milkers produce about 3 1/2 million pounds a year. That's five tons a day, or 20,000

Ag-Industry Banquet Reservations Available

LANCASTER—The twelfth annual Agriculture-Industry Banquet has been scheduled for Tuesday, November 22 at 7 p.m. at Willow Valley Resort according to Elizabeth Lennon, coordinator of office services for the Lancaster Chamber of Chamber of Commerce and Industry. This banquet traditionally brings together the farming and the commercial commuties in a united support of the economy of Lancaster County.

The chief financial correspondent for NBC News, Mike Jensen is the featured speaker. Jensen is known to make finance and business easy to understand and to relate them to every day life. He joined NBC News in 1978 after serving as a financial reporter for Acres Corn Update: Corn futures closed lower today, after trading higher earlier in the day. Volatile trading resulted in losses from 3/4 to 2 cents with the spot option losing 1 cent at $2.93-1/2. Early strength was tied to follow through from yesterday's strength with weakness coming on profit taking coupled with seasonal harvest pressure. News that Taiwan and South Korea had passed on overnight tenders added pressure along with sharp declines in soybeans and deflationary ideas tied to lower crude oil prices. Some support came from ideas that Mexico would submit a tender this evening.

Acres Soybean Update: Soybean futures closed sharply lower erasing half of yesterday's gains pressured by outside market signals and seasonal harvest pressure. Although commercial hedging has been at a minimum expectations for an increase pressured today. Meal closed slightly higher but well off session highs and continues to provide support for beans, along with continued farmer selling reluctance. The November option closed 6 cents lower at $8.23 after posting a high early in the session of $8.30-1/2.

Acres Wheat Update: Wheat futures closed sharply higher when compared with activity in the other grain pits by posting gains from 3-1/4 to 4-1/4 cents. Resistance remains strong in the December with buying today linked to strong technical factors. December posted a high of $4.27-1/2, just 2-1/2 cents shy of overhead, and closed out at $4.26-1/4, up 3-3/4 cents. A steep increase in open interest yesterday for the December option scared some buyers away today and contributed to less active trading.

Acres Cattle Update: Live cattle closed lower in the front three options posting losses from 2 to 40 points while the deferreds gained from 17 to 25 points. Activity was light with October feeling pressure from long liquidation as traders moved to avoid deliveries. Carryover selling from yesterday's late sell off pressured the opening along with sluggish cash trade. Fed cattle sales today were light at steady prices. Ideas that boxed beef trade would improve kept sellers away along with a steep increase in open interest yesterday. Feeders closed for the most part lower with selling tied to unprofitable feeder margins.

ACRES NEXT DAY OUTLOOK: cash - steady futures-steady

Acres Hog Update: Live hog futures settled mixed today with the spot option supported by bull spreading. Some short covering was also featured which added 33 points to the spot option with a settlement of $ 40.20 after touching a high of $40.45 earlier in the session. Further support was attributed to steady to higher cash hog prices this morning coupled with steady midday pork prices. Advances in the spot option were limited by fears of continued large numbers. Bellies closed lower today from 10 to 75 points with selling linked to continued concerns of increased product due to current marketings.

ACRES NEXT DAY OUTLOOK: cash - steady to higher futures - steady to mixed.

Take Your Seat, The Performance Is About To Begin.

You'll applaud the performance of Funk's G-Hybrids like G-4543, G-4626 and G-4446 when the curtain falls at harvest time.

A top choice for shelled grain or ear corn in 110 to 120-day maturity areas, G-4543 produces maximum yields even at lower populations. In Delaware hybrid field corn trials, it topped the field with 148.4 bu./A.

G-4626 has it all in a 115 to 120-day maturity hybrid—fast dry-down, outstanding stay-green, superior standability, excellent plant health and exceptional yields. In Delaware trials, G-4626 produced yields up to 200.9 bu./A.

G-4446 delivers superior late season standability, excellent grain quality and high test weights. A multi-purpose, widely adapted hybrid, G-4446 produced a state record 252.4 bu./A. in the 1986 Pa. Five-Acre Corn Club competition.

THE OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC

OCT. 17-23, 1988

Halcyon days, autumnal haze.

Territory of Alaska officially transferred from Russia to the United States on Sitka's Castle Hill, Oct. 18, 1867 First quarter of the moon Oct 18 (Tues.) British general Lord Cornwallis surrendered to George Washington at Yorktown, Va., Oct 19, 1781... Average length of days for the week 10 hours, 52 minutes . President John F Kennedy demanded the removal of Soviet missiles from Cuba, Oct 22, 1962 . Many a necklace becomes a noose

Ask the Old Farmer: I have a 26-year-old brick chimney on an outside wall that was stuccoed 16 years ago. Now the stucco is chipping off in large enough pieces to take about one-third of the brick with it. If I remove the stucco, can I replace it with anything that will save the brick? L A , Brattleboro, Vt

Your chimney is going to pieces from the inside Moisture is getting into the brick from the flue side and soaking through to the stucco. You could have the chimney relined, which will let you patch the stucco, or you could have a metal cap installed that will let smoke out but prevent water from getting down the flue.

Home Hints: A dollar bill is great for cleaning eyeglasses

OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECAST

New England: Beginning of week showers, snow in mountains; Indian Summer-like weather prevails mid through end of week.

Greater New York-New Jersey: Week begins with cool temperatures and showers; mid through end of week warm and hazy.

Middle Atlantic Coastal: Cold wave with showers at beginning of week; clear and pleasant Indian Summer-like weather mid through end of week.

Piedmont & Southeast Coastal: Sunny and pleasant at week's beginning; midweek rainy and cool; clear and warm at week's end.

OPINION

Thanks 4-H!

"4-H makes a world of difference." That's the theme of National 4-H week October 2 to 6. Of course, we appreciate what the extension people and the teen and adult volunteer leaders do every week. But we want to say a special thank you this week as a tribute to this organization of rich heritage since 1914.

In the past, 4-H has served to educate youth with farming projects and given them a chance to develop leadership abilities. This leadership experience is still available. But now a great deal of the practical experience gained by 4-H youth comes from projects that can be undertaken in the city. That's right, the city. Philadelphia has the largest 4-H club in the nation. Five-thousand members learn some of the work ethic from their county counterparts. In addition, these city youth also prepare themselves for life with experiences in such projects as homemaking and horticulture.

Actually, we believe the full potential for education of youth in the 4-H program has not yet been reached. For example, the need to educate our youth about the consequences of drug and alcohol use and abuse could be very effectively presented through the 4-H educational system that's already in place. And not only the system, but also the atmosphere for learning is in place.

4-H'ers enjoy their projects. And they respect their adult and peer leaders, who by their position as volunteers, prove they care about the youth in their clubs. This caring attitude by the leaders creates a willingness to accept information passed on to the youth through the 4-H educational network.

In Maryland, the 4-H program is already gearing up for a new program in a subject area that will allow both farm and city youth to participate. This subject area is conservation and management of natural resources. The material presented and the related projects available will keep the Maryland 4-H program on the cutting edge of current national trends, research results and career opportunities related to natural resources.

Yes, in 4-H there's something for everyone. Maybe you still have a place for a dairy, beef, hog, sheep, goat or poultry project. Great! But if you don't have that kind of space, don't despair. You may be able to find a place for a dog, rabbit, gerbil, guinea pig or an exotic bird. A plant science project may also appeal to you. Many garden project members this year gained practical experience on how to cope with drought. In Baltimore, inner-city members supplement family income by selling horticultural specity items which they grow and assemble themselves.

Certainly, the quality of life for young people .across America would be greatly diminished without the 4-H programs. And we want to take the opportunity on this National 4-H Week observance to thank all those involved. The land-grant colleges and universities; the national and state ag department-sand the cooperative extension services. Also, the national 4-H council and and the adult and teen volunteer leaders.

THANKS!

NOW IS THE TIME

To Graze Cautiously

As we move into the frost season, farmers pasturing cattle should be concerned about possible dangers of grazing frosted legumes. All of the permanent grasses such as bluegrass, orchardgrass or bromegrass can be safely grazed at any time of the year and this is also true of any of the small grain cover crops such as rye, wheat or barley. All of these are not toxic when frozen and unusually do not present any bloating problems. However, the legumes such as clover and alfalfa should be grazed carefully. They are not toxic, after being frosted, but will cause severe bloating if consumed while the frost is on the leaves. Allow the frost to thaw, and the plants to dry off, before turning in the herd or flock.

Also, any of the sudan grasses or sorghum hybrids should not be grazed for at least a week after being frozen.

To Apply Lime

First, soil test, then apply the needed lime before the soil freezes. That 1-2 order of events should have a high priority now as we finish one growing season and plan ahead for the next.

In order to do its job of correcting soil acidity, lime must come in contact with the soil particles, not just those on the soil surface. Weather changes during the next 6 months will provide just the right conditions to do lots of mixing of lime and soil within the topsoil layer. Freezing and thawing, rain, snow and ice, help to move the lime downward.

During the fall season are firm and usually dry enough to allow lime spreading trucks to move about more easily. Deliveries of lime can be made on time.

To Pick & Store Apples

Whether you grow apples or just like to eat them, it's important to store them properly.

Cool apples will keep longer. Ideally, they should be stored at 33° F., at 90 percent humidity, and in dim light or darkness.

Now as to picking; it's a good practice to store the fruit in shade as it is picked, then allow it to stand in the orchard overnight to cool. Then, place the apples in storage early in the morning before the temperature rises too much.

If you leave apples in a packing shed or in piles under the tree for one week, you'll shorten their storage life by about five weeks. So, keep apples cool, maintain good air circulation during storage, and your apples should keep a long time.

To Salute 4-H

National 4-H Week was this week -- October 2-8. I wish to congratulate the 3,997 members, 650 volunteer adult leaders, and the professional youth workers for their accomplishments and service to Lancaster County.

Through 4-H projects and activities, youth from all social and economic backgrounds, both rural and urban, demonstrate that they can make a difference in food production, conservation of our natural resources, improve economic understanding, and in the formulation of future career decisions.

As a result of the fine exchange programs, 4-H also contributes to international understanding and increased world food production. Four-H provides an important pathway to the future for many youth. Again, congratulations to all people in the 4-H program.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

ANSWER YOUR CALL!

October 9, 1988

Background Scripture: Isaiah 5:1-25.

Devotional Reading: Matthew 21:33-41.

At least half the message of the Bible could be summed up in this one verse from Isaiah 5: "...and he looked for it to yield grapes, but it yielded wild grapes" (5:2b).

That is much of the story of Genesis— God planted a garden in Eden and "looked for it to yield grapes, but," through the sin of Adam and Eve "it yielded wild grapes." It is also the story of Exodus — by Moses God led the people of Israel through the wilderness and into the Promised Land where, once again, "he looked for it to yield grapes," but through the sinfulness of the people of Israel, the Promised Land "yielded wild grapes." And so it runs through Judges I & II Kings, I & II Chronicles and on into the prophets.

When Israel comes to the people with his allegory of the vineyard, they cannot fail to know of what it is he is speaking. Israel is the vineyard and God is the vinedresser who lovingly and tenderly does all that he can to insure a harvest of tender grapes.

JUSTICE!
RIGHTEOUSNESS!

Just as the Prohpet Nathan had used a parable to lead David into condemning his own sin, so, by means of this allegory, Isaiah leads the people of Israel to render judgement against themselves: "And now, O inhabitants of Jerusalem and men of Judah, judge, I pray you, between me and my vineyard. What more was there to do for my vineyard, that I have not done in it?" (5:4). God had more than done his part, so "When I looked for it to yield grapes, why did it yield wild grapes?"

The result of this disappointing harvest will be the destruction of the vineyard. Of course the figures of the vineyard and the wild grapes represent the spiritual failure of Israel. What had God really wanted of his people? —"...and he looked for justice, but behold, bloodshed; for righteousness, but behold, a cry!" (5:7b).

PRODUCE!

The allegory of the vineyard may be pretty remote for most of us today; we know little about the growing of grapes. Nevertheless, we do know what productivity means, for our world today thrives on productivity. So, what God expects of all of us is to produce results in the world that are pleasing to God and instrumental in his purpose. Little that we say and do in the course of our religion matters very much unless it produces tangible results.

Not only were the people of Israel — and us?— not productive of good results, what they produced were results that were entirely contrary to God's will: injustice and unrighteousness. Not content to generalize on this theme, Isaiah goes on to spell out six specific reproaches and, as we read them, who among us cannot help but feel they were written for us as well as the people of Israel? He condemns their greed and covetousness (5:8-10), their riotous living (11,12), their mokery of God (18,19), their moral depravity (20) and arrogant conceit (21,22). Finally, he condemns the widespread practice of bribery (23).

What do you think it is that God looks for today in our world? And what is it that he finds? Are injustice and unrighteousness the "wild grapes" that he finds in the vineyards he has planted here? And when he looks into your life, what does he find?

PROMISING SIGNS OF PROSPERITY.

For better standability and higher yields.

Not every seed corn can stand the test of our tough growing season. But Agway 310X and 588X can because they're bred specifically for the soil, climate and growing conditions in this region.

So when you see these Agway signs, you know you're looking at the promise of excellent standability and outstanding yield potential.

For a prosperous 1989 season, ask your Agway Farm Enterprise Salesperson for the facts on these proven hybrids.

Ag-Industry Banquet

Mike Jensen

the New York Times. Jensen does investigative stores for NBC Nightly News and creates features on the "Today" program. He serves as a panelist on "Meet The Press" and recently did a special broadcast on U.S Agriculture.

In addition, the program will feature the 1988 Century Farm Families awards as a salute to Lancaster Agriculture. Lancaster County Agent Jay Irwin said this week that Century Farm nominees whose applications have been processed prior to October 1 will be honored at this banquet.

"Applications for Century Farm designation are still being accepted by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture," Irwin said. "To qualify as a Century Farm, the farm must have been owned by the same family for 100 consecutive years or more. A family memaber must currently live on the farm and the farm must consist of at least 10 acres of the original holding or gross over $1,000 annually from the sale of farm products."

Every is invited to attend the banquet. Individual tickets are $25 each with tables of 10 available at $250. All tickets are sold on a first-come, first-served basis. You may use the order form published with this article. Deadline for registration is Thursday, November 10. If you have questions you may call Ms. Lennon at the Chamber office. Phone: (717) 397-4035.

Lampeter Fair Dairy Show Champions

BY PAT PURCELL

LAMPETER (Lancaster) — An exuberant Matthew Kolb of Lancaster described the moment as "awesome" when Lampeter Fair Dairy show judge tapped his aged cow for the grand champion of the Holstein show.

Christine Williams, ag teacher at Tulpehocken in Berks County made the selections at the dairy show. This was the first championship ever for the 13-year-old son of Dennis and Debbie Kolb of Lancaster and his talkativeness throughout the show indicated his excitement. Kolb had a lot riding on this show. Apparently he made a deal with his school principal, Henry Mearig, at Centerville Junior High. If Kolb's picture appeared in the newspaper, Mr. Mearig had agreed to display it in the school's showcase. Well, Kolb kept his end of the deal by exhibiting the grand champion.

Reserve grand champion of the Holstein show went to John and Susan Howard from Howcrest Farm in Willow Street. This was the Howards' first show for the year and their first appearance at the Lampeter Fair. Howcrest Stewart Ronda earned the reserve spot.

One on One

What's the best approach to solving a farmer's problem? At Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, we believe it's one-on-one. Face-to-face, informal meetings between our field representatives and our members.

Our field representatives are a crucial link between Atlantic and its members. The cooperative can pay out a record amount in patronage, equity and premiums, yet our members rely on the personal service they receive.

Each of our field representatives is trained to help dairy farmers produce better milk and make more money. They are experts in improving milk quality and milking systems, and are well-versed in farm construction and equipment.

Would you like to be a part of this one-on-one approach? Then call or write today. Get to know the advantages of Atlantic membership.

Jersey Futurity Premiers At All-American Show

GINGER SECRIST MYERS
Adams Co. Correspondent

HARRISBURG (Dauphin) — As the PA All-American Dairy Show celebrated its Silver Anniversary, Jersey Breeders christened a new event to be held annually in conjunction with the Harrisburg show. Wednesday morning of All-American week the small arena was filled with two-year-old Jerseys for the premier of the 1988 Harvest Futurity.

The class culminated almost a year of planning by committee members: Charles Itle, Doug and Julie Martin, Florence Robinson, Lori Sollenberger, Wayne Stiles, and Ginger Myers.

To begin the class, the arena lights were dimmed and each entry was announced by AJCC Field Representative Scott Bently as they were led through an illuminated area in the center of the ring. Each entry wore a Harvest Futurity banner draped across her withers. Once all the entries had entered the ring, the banners were removed and the lights were fully restored. Then, Judge Jim Shaw, Mercer, PA, set to the task of placing this exceptional group of two-year-olds.

Selected as the winner was Glenyle S. Jay Hetty owned by Michael Heath, Westminster, Maryland. Led out in the class by Billy Jo Heath, Judge Shaw gave this Valleystream silver Jay daughter an advantage in length, width throughout the thurls and pins, and more correct teat size over the second place cow JRS Volunteer Britani, owned by Randall Stiles, Clearbrook, VA.

Heath purchased his show winner in 1987 by private treaty from Glenyle Farm, Princeton, Ontario. "Hetty" was the Junior Champion at last year's PA All-American Jersey Show. Milking since March, she is currently bred to Milestone Imperial.

As the class winner, Heath received a $325.00 premium, a Revere bowl presented by Pleasant Valley Jerseys, Chambersburg, and a floral arrangement presented by John and Ginger Myers and family, Littlestown.

JRS Volunteer Britani, the second place cow, received a $180.00 premium, a Revere bowl presented by Spring Valley Farm, Westminster, Maryland, for Best Bred and Owned entry, and a plaque presented by Myers Analytical laboratory, Littlestown, for the highest placing Junior entry.

an equity interest in Hood. Dairylea will also enter into an agreement for the supply of milk to the plants to be sold and will continue to operate its bulk milk sales program through contracts with 22 wholesale milk buyers.

The proposal is subject to the approval by the appropriate boards of directors and will be presented to Dairylea's delegates at the co-op's annual meeting October 11. It is also subject to satisfaction of regulatory and other customary conditions.

"This move will provide our members with assurance of maintaining ownership and profit participation in an important segment of the Northeast's dairy business," said Rutherford.

The facilities to be sold by Dairylea to Hood include manufacturing plants at Oneida and Vernon, its fluid bottling plant in Syracuse, a number of distribution depots, and a transportation facility at Vernon, all in New York State. No change in workforce at the three plants is anticipated at this time.

"The change will make available efficiencies of size and distribution in a highly competitive marketplace to the benefit of both the consumer and participants in the Agri-Mark/Hood system," Wilson said. "Hood is pleased to be able to market Dairylea brand products and we look forward to the continued success of this line."

According to Hiller, the new venture is a logical extension of Agway's commitment to building a strong agricultural base to improve the income of Northeast farmers.

"Dairying is by far the largest segment of that base," said Hiller. "We believe the new venture will create opportunities for everyone concerned."

0/92 Provisions Available For The 1989 Wheat and Feed Grain Programs

YORK — The 0/92 provisions are available for the 1989 wheat and feed grain programs. Some producers are debating whether or not to plant winter wheat because of the dry soil conditions. This reminder may assist them in making this management decision says Geary Huntsberger of the York County ASC Committee.

The "0/92" provisions gives wheat and feed grain producers the option to devote all or a portion of their permitted acreage to conserving uses and receive deficiency payments on the acreage. The maximum acres for deficiency payments under this provision is 92 percent of the permitted acreage.

Huntsberger, an Etters, PA farmer, pointed out that the sign up dates and the projected deficiency rates for the 1989 wheat and feed grain crops have not been announced. However, Huntsberger said that the "0/92" provisions will be available for these crops.

"Eligibility for participation in all programs administered by ASCS is established under law without regard to race, color, age, sex, religion, national origin or physical handicap."

Bid Of $1775 Tops PA State Jersey Sale

GINGER SECRIST MYERS
Adams Co. Correspondent

HARRISBURG (Dauphin) — Eight-year-old Janet Lynn Vance bought her first 4-H project here Wednesday afternoon, September 28, and it's a good one. In fact, she purchased the top selling cow at the PA State Jersey Sale. The Vance family of Mt. Pleasant, Pa., purchased Antietam Hill Cherub, a dry three-year-old, for $1775.00. She was consigned by longtime 4-H'er Kirk W. Stiles of Boonesboro, Maryland.

This fancy, young VG 87, Acacia Acres Silver Soldier daughter sold due in November to Quicksilvers Magic of Ogston. This cow's pedigree is really wet with "Cherub" pumping out 13,820 pounds of milk, 742 pounds of butterfat, and 511 pounds of protein on her 3-year-old record. Her VG 86 Favorite Saint dam has just finished her record at 20,500 pounds of milk, 926 pounds of butterfat and 737 pounds of protein. The next dam is a VG 86 Samson daughter with best records over 17,500 pounds of milk and 897 pounds of butterfat.

Second high selling consignment came from Elmview Jersey Farm, Columbus, Pa. Leroy Bittner, Meyersdale, Pa. paid $1650.00 for Sooner Mercury Frisky, a Soldierboy Boomer Sooner of CJF daughter, just fresh with her second calf. This fancy young cow by the breed's number one milk bull is out of a Willrich Mercury dam. "Frisky" already has an MCD of +3957M +105F and a Cow Index of +1234M +33F.

Pleasant Valley Jerseys, Chambersburg, purchased the third high selling cow, W.F. Justin Shelli, for $1600.00. A W.F. Genrator Justin daughter, her dam is W.F. Quick Porter Shelly with two records over 20,000 pounds of milk and over 900 pounds of butterfat. She sold just recently bred to Valleystream Silver Beacon.

Denise Martin, also of Pleasant Valley Jerseys, purchased the top selling heifer in this year's Pot-Of-Gold contest. Heifers sold in this sale series have 25% of the purchase price set aside of a production contest held after they have completed their two-year-old record.

Martin selected Bridon Just Leta consigned by Mary Anna Knowlton, Portland, Ct., for the purchase price of $1175.00. This June 1, 1987 heifer is nominated for the 1990 Jersey Jug. Her dam, Bridon Title Leta was the 1985 reserve junior champion in Louisville. The next dam is scored 92.5 in Canada and has a lifetime production record of 166,987 pounds of milk and 8486 pounds of butterfat in 12 lactations.

The sale averaged $1202.00 on 37 lots in the State Sale and $696.88 on the eight calves sold in the Pot-Of-Gold Sale.

Eastern Reports Record Cash Bonuses

SYRACUSE, N.Y.— Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative reported lower sales and proceeds for the 1988 fiscal year, but also announced a record payout of $3.2 million in cash bonuses to its farmer-owners.

Eastern marketed 2.1 billion pounds of milk for its members during the fiscal year ending March 31, 1988, resulting in sales of $261 million and net proceeds of $139,000. Those audited results compare with sales of $298.6 million and net proceeds of $233,000 for fiscal 1987. In fiscal '87 the co-op marketed 2.33 billion pounds of milk.

"The sales decline resulted from a drop in government-controlled milk prices, and from lower volume due to a high percentage of Northeast dairy farmers going out of business," General Manager Michael Donovan said during the co-op's annual meeting Oct. 4-5 in Syracuse, N.Y.

R. LaVerne McCarty, the dairy farmer president of Eastern's board of directors, noted that the reduced net proceeds were partly a result of the cooperative's decision early in the fiscal year to pay farmers directly all premiums (or cash bonuses) that Eastern was able to negotiate with customers. These premiums were above the government-set price for farmers' raw milk.

Eastern farmers received in excess of $2.7 million in premiums obtained from customers -- plus, Eastern paid out nearly $300,000 from its own coffers as special fall premiums. The fall premium program -- designed to encourage farmers to shift milk production away from the "spring flush" period to the fall when milk volumes are lower -- "accomplished its objective and provided the cooperative with additional fall milk to meet its contractual requirements," Donovan said.

The general manager also commended the employees of Eastern's Dairy Products Division for record sales of $8.2 million and profitable operations for the 9th consecutive year. The division, with offices in Canton, operates six dairy stores in Pennsylvania and New York, and product delivery routes covering 30,000 customers in an 11-state area.

"This division, which is being restructured as a wholly-owned subsidiary of Eastern Milk Producers, is continuing to aggressively expand both store sales and its rural route distribution with positive results for its cooperative owners," Donovan said.

In the election of offices Thursday afternoon, R. LaVerne McCarty, Forksville, was re-elected president, George Haddad, Bainbridge, NY, re-elected treasurer and C. Lee Greenwalt, Lawrenceville, re-elected secretary.

Lewis Gardner, Galeton, was elected vice-president and Ed Schoen, Phelps, was elected assistant secretary-treasurer.

Harold Bailey, State College, was elected director from District 13 to replace retiring director Norman Fyock, Osterburg. Other directors are: Robert Gable, Newport; George Mesick, South Schodack, NY; Erwin Clark, Vergennes, VT; Ralph Densiow, Boonville, NY; and Noel Davis, Unadilla, NY. Also, Lee Ressler, Conestoga; Merle Colwell, Wendsor, NY; Dale Paulhamus, Jersey Shore; Timothy Bryant, Pawlet, VT; George Fuller, Cohocton, NY; and Charles Freligh, Coyuga, NY.

Waverly Has Grand Champion At Mid-Atlantic

HARRISBURG — Waverly Farm of Clearbrook, Virginia, continued their traditional winning way at the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show today. They managed to grab most of the honors available in judging competition of the 1988 Mid-Atlantic Regional Jersey Show at the Farm Show Complex.

Their aged cow named "Hi-Power Surville Model" was the grand champion and senior champion female of the show. "W.F. Joys Count Plexi" was the best senior female bred and owned by the exhibitor, and "W.F. Saint Lyric" was the best junior female bred and owned by the exhibitor and reserve junior champion female. Waverly also won the best three females, best dairy herd, and best dam and daughter.

It was only fitting for Judge Richard Keene to name Waverly Farm the premier breeder of the show and premier exhibitor. The premier sire also belonged to Waverly, "W.F. Generator Justin."

Bryant Hill Jerseys of Chesterfield, MA, managed to break Waverly's stronghold by showing the junior champion female, "Saint Typhoon," a junior yearling heifer.

A look through the All-American history book shows Waverly Farm being named the premier exhibitor nine other times, the premier breeder nine other times and owner of eight grand champions since the mid-1970's.

Pennsylvania had the 1st place state herd followed by Maryland and Ohio.

The Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show celebrated its silver anniversary this year. The show is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Dairy and Allied Industries Association in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture and the Pennsylvania Farm Show Commission.

TWO-STAGE SNOWTHROWER WITH NEW TRACKS - MODEL 826

This two-stage unit cleans a wide, 26" path. It's powered by a heavy-duty 8 H.P. engine with a cast iron sleeve for durability. The one-gallon fuel tank provides up to an hour's worth of uninterrupted clearing.

The new tracks on this model provide so much traction, you'll never need to use tire chains. Tracks provide more stability from side to side in packed or drifted show, and are designed to pivot independently on the drive axle, for great handling on unlevel terrain.

Optional accessories for Cub Cadet two-stage snowthrowers include: 12-volt AC electric start kit, snow shield, drift cutter bar and tire chains. Headlight kit is available for model 826 only.

ACCEPT NO IMITATIONS

When you're told "it's the same as Big Dutchman," you're being reminded that Big Dutchman is the leader with the best quality poultry feeding equipment. Why does that salesman from the other company mention us, his toughest competitor? It's pretty clear Big Dutchman is the standard We are the measure of all the others

The next time a salesman says, "it's as good as Big Dutchman" let that be your cue to call us for the real thing.

Quality, reliability and proven performance these are what distinguish Big Dutchman from the imitators

Skawienski Family

pounds per pickup -- "and every bit of it has been counted toward selecting the Skawienskis as the 1988 Quality Farmers of the Year," Eastern General Manager Michael Donovan noted.

Machinery helped make that possible.

"Our milking equipment (a double herring-bone parlor and Surge pipeline) is probably the single most important piece of equipment on the farm because it does harvest our crop," Skawienski said.

Of course, the human element plays a major role, too.

"My youngest son (Alan) likes to milk...and when he finds a cow with mastitis, or whatever, he makes sure that milk doesn't go into the tank."

He adds: "That's probably the most important thing -- making sure poor quality milk doesn't go in."

Plus, with a 20-cent per hundredweight quality premium, "it just pays for us to produce a quality product."

New Premiums

A new three-part cash premium program for farmers was unveiled at the annual meeting. The program has several purposes, according to Donovan:

• To reward quality. (Milk with low levels of bacteria and low somatic cell count. High quality milk can boost yield in cheese products and extend the shelf life of other dairy products.)

• To put extra money in the pockets of farmers who want to produce more milk.

• To help counteract the impact of the shrinking milk supply resulting from farmers going out of business.

The first part of the new program extends Eastern's 10-cent and 20-cent per hundredweight quality and protein premiums to members who were not covered before because of where their milk was shipped.

Part II offers bonuses ranging from 4 cents to 60 cents per hundredweight (cwt.) for farmers producing over 50,000 pounds of milk a month.

Part III extends the concept of Eastern's Fall Premium program so that farmers can earn extra cash for increases in production almost year-round.

The Fall Program rewards farmers for producing more milk in the fall than in the spring by paying $1.00/cwt. for that extra volume. The new production incentive, which becomes effective January 1, will pay farmers month by month for increases over the same period during the previous year. Depending on the month, the premium will range from 25 cents/cwt. to $1.00/cwt.

"As far as I can determine, this is one of the best premium programs around," said Eastern President R. LaVerne McCarthy, a dairy farmer from Forksville, Pa. "And that's in addition to any improved upfront premiums we'll be getting from our customers."

The federal government each month sets a minimum price that farmers can receive for milk. McCarty said that premiums allow farmers to get a higher price, and help offset the downward trend in the government-set price.

Eastern also honored top quality farmers for New England and the Pennsylvania-and-South Region.

Gerald Thompson, Eastern's Field Representative Of The Year, accepts award from Michael Donovan, general manager.

Eastern Milk Producers' President, R. LaVerne McCarty honors retiring directors Mr. & Mrs. Norman Fyock.

They are, respectively:

• Eileen Bador, and her son, Kevin, who have a small herd of 18 milking cows in Williamstown, VT. Mrs. Bador said that farming has meant "independent living, living your own life and being your own boss, and ... a lot of hard work." As a small farmer, Mrs. Bador said she really appreciated Eastern's guarantee of a market for her milk. She has been farming all her life, and has been with Eastern for the last 20 years.

• Bruce Bartley, Jr., who milks 41 cows in Cogan Station, with the help of his wife, Teresa, and brother. Bartley has been both an Eastern member and a farmer for eight years. He also is president of Eastern's West Branch Local. "When you feel you're doing a good job, you keep trying to keep your goals higher," he said. In the meantime, he said he would continue "what works best": "We start by keeping our cows clean...use good milking practices...and keep milking equipment in good condition -- if you take good care of it, it takes good care of you."

The Top Ten

Rounding out the list of top ten farmers named at Eastern's annual banquet are:

Harold and Marjorie Austin of Shinglehouse; Ronald Bice, South Edmeston, N.Y.; Naelcam Farms, Cortland, N.Y.; Clair and Ruby Powell, Punxsutawney; Mark and Sarah Russell, Brandon, Vt.; Jesse Lee Spicher, Belleville; and Charles Walker, Geneva, N.Y.

Field Rep Of Year

Gerald Thompson of Warriers Mark, Pa., was named Field Representative of the Year. Thompson has been working with Eastern farmers since 1976.

"His help directly affects the farmer's quality and ultimately benefits the farmer's quality bonus," General Manager Donovan noted.

Thompson has been around farm life for a long time. At the age of six, he started working with his father in the dressed poultry business. Later, in 1950, he and his father started a dairy farm. Together with his father, his wife Sylvia, and three children (Jerry, Jeff and Lori), Thompson maintained the dairy farm for 28 years.

In 1976 Gerald went to work for Eastern.

Lampeter Livestock Sale Has $4.60 Top Bid

LAMPETER (Lancaster) — The grand champion hog at the fair here Friday evening sold for $4.60 per pound with Hatfield Packing placing the top bid. Owner Gary Crills of Ephrata received the championship honors on his 215-pound hog earlier in the week. Total price for the champion was $989.

Laura Folker of New Holland sold her reserve grand champion to Hess Butcher Shop for $3 per pound for a total of $720.

In the steer sale, Anita Meck of Strasburg sold her grand champion to G. R. Mitchell Inc., for $3.50 per pound, or a total of $4357.75 on the 1,245-pound steer.

The reserve grand champion steer shown by Anna Marie Frey of Quarryville sold to Willow Valley Associates for $1.60 per pound. That came to a total of $2,296 on the 1,435-pound steer.

The hog sale averaged $.69 per pound without the champions, and the steer sale averaged $1.35 per pound without the champions.

Other buyers included the following list: Agway Inc.; Powls Feed Service; Bank of Lancaster Co.; Welk's Hauling, Willie the Butcher; Darrencamp's Market; Hershey Equipment; Rep. John Barley for Star Rock Farms; C. B. Hoober; Pl L. Rohrer; Leaman Tractor Parts; Paul Risk Assoc.; Thomas's Trucking; Sensenig Feeds; West Willow Farmers' Assn.; Herr and Lehman Farm Equipment; Paradise Concrete; Roy C. Probst & Son and Donbach Brothers.

Laura Folker sold the reserve champion hog to Lloyd Hess of Hess Butcher shop.

Manheim Baby Beef Champion Flaunts Superiority

BY LOU ANN GOOD

MANHEIM (Lancaster) — From the beginning of the Manheim Baby Beef competition on Tuesday night, George was determined to impose his superiority on the other contestants. He intimidated them by throwing his weight around, snorting and being downright nasty.

But in the end, Ken Winebark, judge of the show agreed that the 1,240-pound Angus-Chiania was superior and deserved to be named the champion of the show.

George merely snorted and refused to pose for picture taking honors. Instead he kept turning to expose his side view to the camera. "It's the side that shows up his best qualities and he seems to know it," explained John Hess, owner of the champion steer.

Hess, the seventeen-year-old son of John and Sue Hess of Manheim, said that he bought his steer at last year's Keystone Exposition. It was the first champion win for the Manheim FFA chapter president who has been showing for nine years.

The reserve championship was taken by Buddy, a 1,280-pound Angus owned by Angie Longenecker. Buddy was also named the FFA grand champion. A veteran winner, Longenecker also was awarded junior showmanship and her 4—H steer, Justin, placed first in the heavyweight division.

Longenecker's brother, 14-year-old Jeremy, took the 4-H reserve championship with his 1,105 Angus-Chiania. "He's a real meatwagon," Jeremy explained.

Andy Allen, a tenth grader from Manheim Central, took the 4-H championship with his 1,134-pound Limousin-Charolais crossbreed. According to the judge, a Lebanon County extension agent, Alfalfa boasted "nice, heavy muscled loins." Allen is the 15-year-old son of Keith and Kendy Allen.

In addition to Longenecker receiving first place in showmanship, Elizabeth Hess placed first in the junior division and Doug Musser, in the senior division.

SURGE RX MILKING UNIT

A prescription for better cow udder health!

- No Cross—Four individual chambers prevent bacterial organisms from spreading from quarter to quarter.
- High Capacity—Vacuum stability (First with Surge) and Good Cow Milking are not sacrificed for isolated quarter milking.
- Visability—Milk flow is easily recognized from each individual quarter. Durable, lightweight design for thousands of cow milkings.
- Easy Handling—The RX Unit is comparable to any conventional claw-type unit.

30 YEARS AGO
THIS WEEK

- The first killing frost in the Keystone State this year occurred on Oct. 2, and covered most of the northern section of the State, the State Department of Agriculture reported today.

Another killing frost, this one extending into the central portion of the State, occurred on Oct. 6.

A Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service survey shows that haying and vegetable harvest are complete.

- The U.S. Department of Agriculture today announced commodity details of an agreement between the United State and India which provides for financing sale of $238.8 million worth (including certain ocean transportation costs) of U.S. agricultural commodities for rupees (Indian currency).

The agreement is the first to be concluded under Title I of the recently extended and expanded Agricultural Trade Development and Assistance Act of 1954 (public Law 480).

- The nation's champion laying hen as determined in the recent Missouri Egg Laying Test, is a White Leghorn owned by Darby Leghorn Farm, Somerville, NJ. The new champion won her title on the basis of her performance and that of members of her team in the tests.

The Darby bird produced 330 eggs in 351 days of the contest year, for a 94.17 percent laying average. Top birds in all the country's standard laying tests are eligible for competition in this prestigious contest.

- Lancaster County Agent Max Smith has announced enrollment of the county-wide Red Rose Baby Beef Club, will close Oct. 15.

Eligible young people may enroll by contacting Smith or one of the six following 4-H Club leaders.

Ira Rutt, Peach Bottom; Fred W. Linton, Quarryville RD2; Harry Showalter, Reinholds, RD1; Mylin R. Good, Manheim RD1; Jay R. Nissley, Manheim RD4 and Victor Longenecker, Elizabethtown RD3.

Imports of meat and meat products into U.S. during the first six months of 1958 were more than double those of the same period a year earlier, according to latest figures of the Foreign Agricultural Service.

The figures show that 213.6 million pounds of beef and veal were imported during the January-June period of 1958, compared with 76.9 million for the comparable period of 1957.

Schreiber Named Holly Manager

SOUTHAMPTON (Bucks) — Dr. Paul E. Hand, general manager of Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, has announced the appointment of William L. Schreiber as manager and chief operating officer of Holly Milk Cooperative, a subsidiary of Atlantic.

Previously operations manager at Holly Milk, Schreiber replaces former general manager Daniel D. Plinski, who has accepted a position with an Italian cheese plant in Seattle, Wash.

In his new position, Schreiber will be responsible for the overall operation of the 11-year-old plant, which manufacturers butter, milk powders and condensed milk products.

Schreiber joined the Holly Milk staff in 1979 as a production superintendent while the plant was in the midst of its start-up phase. In the nearly 10 years he has been employed at the cooperative, Schreiber has gained a thorough understanding of all plant operations.

From a production superintendent, Schreiber went on to become technical manager, where his responsibililities were to commission and develop the waste water treatment facility. He then served as quality assurance manager, establishing and maintaining quality standards to ensure regulatory compliance.

As production manager, Schreiber directed and supervised all manufacturing and milk receiving operations. During the past two years as operations manager, he was responsible for plant-wide operations, including implementation and supervision of personnel programs, cost reductions and coordination of sales activities.

A native of New York, Schreiber graduated from Ohio State University with a bachelor's degree in food science and nutrition, with a minor in business administration. An avid sportsman, he and his wife, Barbara, and their two daughters, Erin and Kimberly, reside in Carlisle, Pa.

Catch The Manheim Farm Show Spirit

BY LOU ANN GOOD

MANHEIM (Lancaster) — What Manheim lacks in size, it makes up in spirit. From Monday through Friday, hometown residents strutted their stuff at the Manheim Farm Show.

For some, that meant exhibiting such items as handicrafts, animals or produce; for others, competing in goat racing, pedal tractor pulls or tug-of-war. If you didn't compete in those areas, well...you could always indulge in the tantalizing fair food while vocalizing support for the competitions.

That's exactly what onlookers did Monday night when they watched the town's first goat race.

Goats came in all sizes, shapes and colors. Ugly or cute, the proverbial mischievious goats entertained the audience with their unpredictable antics. Their owners were as young as six-years and as old as—well, should we say past their prime. As the goats raced in pairs, their masters tugged or hung on to the ropes attached to the goats' halters. Some goats tore off from the starting line only to balk a few feet from the finish line. That caused a few owners to push, grunt and shove while spectators cheered and screamed.

Said Earl Geib, president of the Farm Show committee, "It was the first time we had a goat race, and from the audience's response, I think we'll expand it next year."

Not all the activities carried the same screeching support as the goat race did; but they still attracted crowds. Needlework chairman, Christine Rohrer, Manheim, said seeing all the pretty things people enter keep people returning year after year. She's been organizing the judging events for the past 15 to 16 years.

This year, Gloria Edmonds, Ephrata, judged knitting, crocheting and embrodiery. Gloria picked up a mohair sweater knit in an intricate pattern. Although lovely to the inexperienced eye, Gloria pointed out that the finishing techniques were sloppy. "You should not be able to see the seams if it is put together properly," she explained. As she examined several multi-colored yarn sweaters she said, "Multi-colored yarn hides a multitude of sins because it's much

Debbie Strickler judged the clothing division at the Manheim Farm Show.

Homestead Notes

"We're looking for the perfect flower," said Kathryn Fry. She and her husband Albert serve as co-chairpersons for the flower division.

harder to see mistakes and the seam construction."

Judges look for quality, uniformity and an item that is a little bit different. A complicated pattern has a much better chance of catching a blue ribbon, but if it's soiled forget it. Gloria said, "It isn't that the item cannot have been used, but if the exhibitor doesn't care enough to have it properly cleaned, I don't even consider it."

Although judges maintain they like their judging duties, Debbie Strickler, clothing judge, revealed that it's frustrating to find five superior garments in one category and none worthy of a blue ribbon in another.

Next to the needlecraft department is the canned food display. Jams, jellies, butter spreads and pickles are tasted for judging. But canned fruits and vegetables are judged by their attractiveness in color, texture and uniformity. "Carol Ludwig who has been helping in the canned fruit departmen. for the past eight years said, "Entries are down in canning this year." She said it may have been a result of the drought that affected the quality of some produce.

In one corner of the exhibit building is the fresh flower displays. The sweet aroma of roses mingle with the tangy marigold odors. "We're looking for the perfect flower with good foliage," said Kathryn Fry, chairperson for the floral exhibits.

To find the perfect flower, judges examine not only the top but also underneath the flower and foliage. The flowers natural beauty is enhanced by the arrangements displayed in harmonizing containers.

Another eye-appealing event is the Sheperd's lead line. That's when both sheep and their exhibitor dress in their wooly best and parade before the crowd. The competition's purpose is to promote sheep and the wool industry. Sheep can garner 40 points if beautifully groomed. Their leadsperson can earn 60 points for proper sheep handling and for modeling their own outfits that must be made from at least 70% wool.

Carey Donches repeated last year's showing by placing first in the senior division. Carey is a veteran sheep exhibitor at many county fairs. Other winners placed in descending order included Jane Enslow, Arlisa Snavely, Diane Musser, and Joelle Boll.

In the junior division, Andrea Mylin, Manheim, placed first with the following runnerups: Lori Boll, Angie Erb, Lisa Lynn Rieff and Regina Landis.

Of course, no farm show would be complete without selecting a farm show queen. This year, hometowner Stefani Brubaker claimed the crown. Her court included first runnerup, Carey Donches, and second runnerup, June Lehman.

The 17-year-old farm queen is the daughter of John and Sharon Brubaker. She helps her parents on a farm with 100 beef cattle and 800,000 broiler chickens.

Monday through Friday, the Manheim farm show was packed with novel ideas, but it still retains it strong agriculture emphasis. For information about livestock competition and sales, look for more articles in this issue.

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

A glance back, through the deepening shadows of dusk, shows that I am alone.

Parallel wheel tracks mark the dusty field road, worn by so many tractor and pickup trips lugging loads of hay and silage. Ahead, towering oaks reach their heavy branches across the road's passage through the woodlot

In the darkness, I flip on the three-wheeler's headlight, hoping to catch the glare from eyes of any small animal that might be out already on its nocturnal wanderings.

Where is he?

With throttled-back, third gear pace, the three-wheeler putts on, bumping over the cattle bridge and down the grade of the heifers' pasture. Easing right, this dusty trail passes over the meadow's small stream. Near this spot, a flock of about a dozen bluebirds made their debut this summer.

Is he sick? Where is he?

A second cattle bridge marks the edge of the pasture and bottom of the distant hill of contour strips of sudan grass, alfalfa hay and ripening soybeans. Dusk has given way to beginning night as I top the steep grade of the road, slide from the seat and wade into the yellowing rows of beans.

After removing one bean pod from a stem to check for ripeness, I tuck it in my pocket and swing back on the cycle. We have anxiously repeated this crop monitoring process many times in the past two months.

But where in the world could he be?

Suddenly, bathed in the bright glow of the headlight, he's standing there.

Actually, he's wiggling. Tongue hanging out. Tail wagging at top speed.'

"Caught you!" says the triumphant look on his slender, brown-furred face.

Fritz didn't miss a cycle run, after all. And I suddenly realize again how important he is to us all, this faithful, but aging, mixed shepherd-collie-whatever dog. Nearing 80 in human years, the speed with which he accompanies every cycle trip is probably what has kept our cross-country canine so youthful and physically fit.

He simply lives to run with that cycle, accompany the kids on field work, and snitch pickup truck rides - preferably in the passenger seat, with the window open a crack to stick his nose out, thank you.

Groundhogs steer clear of that accurate nose and capable jaws. In fact, Fritz will opt any day for a meal of fresh-caught woodchuck over the tastiest dogfood.

Well, actually he will eat dogfood under the right conditions: when he's in the mood, it has fresh, warm milk poured over it, and a couple of cats come close enough to his dish to be snarled at. Keeping cats in their place at feeding time seems to add extra flavor, though he never attempts to do them any harm. Just boss them.

But, his macho motorcycle swagger comes to a leg-quivering halt at the first distant rumble of thunder - which he can hear when it's still a county away. Summer evenings during milking, he warns of impending storms simply by laying in the barn alleyway, while we fall over him as we wash udders and tend milking machines.

The basement stairs land is Fritz's safe haven in storms, to the extent that he comes pawing at the door anytime it rains. On the coldest winter nights, the two kids he's loved through their childhood often invite him in to spend the night at his favorite spot.

A throwrug, though, now covers the stairs landing at all times. Fritz's age is showing, and small puddles sometimes remain behind where he's been sleeping.

The round, ricestraw mat outside the front door was put there, not only because the old piece of carpet was badly worn, but also because it offers more comfort to an aging body. He rises from it reluctantly when the door opens, stretches stiff-legged, then draws his lips back in the "grin" which has become his trademark.

We know not how many more years he may have. So we especially treasure his companionship, faithfulness, and gentle nature.

All families should have such a best friend.

Camp Shehaqua

One hundred and thirty-four 4-H'ers teens and adults from Luzerne County experienced outdoor living in late August at 4-H Camp Shehaqua in the Pocono Mountains.

Camp Shehaqua offers 4-H boys and girls, a week long stay in rustic cabin, Campers met new friends, explored the out-of-doors, and participated in educational activities.

In addition to special events, such as Water Carnival and Indian Campfires, and the how-tos of swimming, a ropes challenge course, archery and shooting sports; an expanded emphasis was placed on educational activities. Educational programs were conducted on first aid and safety, AIDS, American heritage and nature. Staff and campers also participated in two leadership trainings using the Penn State developed "Skills for Working Together."

Thirty-two 4-H teens and adults made up the Luzerne County 4-H Camp Shehaqua staff. The staff volunteers who received intensive training to conduct the camp program. Many of the staff returned from the previous year.

Pork Favorites From Our Readers

Think about all the menus you serve at home that call for ground meat. Isn't it time to go with something different? Well, then...go with ground pork.

It's lean, loaded with protein and most B vitamins, and it's not high in calories.

Ground pork with no seasonings added brings a flavorful difference to everything from tacos to appetizers, from patties to meatloaves, from burgers to casseroles. Try ground pork in your favorite grounhd meat dishes...and surprise your family with some delectable new ideas from this column.

If you don't find ground pork in the meat case at your favorite supermarket, ask for it-75-80% lean, twice-ground pork and discover how delicious "the other ground meat" can be.

HAM JAMBALAYA

3 tablespoons butter
1 cup chopped onion
1 cup uncooked long-grain rice
29-ounce can tomatoes
½ cup diced green pepper
½ teaspoon basil
½ teaspoon marjoram
½ teaspoon allspice
1 chicken bouillon cube
1 cup water
¼ teaspoon black pepper
½ teaspoon paprika
1 tablespoon brown sugar
2 cups diced cooked ham
2 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley
3 ounces shredded Cheddar cheese

In a large saucepan melt butter over medium heat. Add onions and saute until tender-crisp. Add rice; stir until rice is barely golden. Cut tomatoes in quarters. Add tomatoes and juice to rice with pepper, seasonings, water, bouillon, and brown sugar. Stir in ham; bring mixture to a boil. Reduce heat. Cover and simmer 20 to 25 minutes or until rice is tender. Spoon into a large serving bowl. Sprinkle parsley over center of jambalaya and cheese around edges. Serves 6-8.

PORK CHOPS MEDENA STYLE

8 one-inch-thick pork chops
½ teaspoon rosemary
½ teaspoon sage
½ clove garlic, chopped
1 cup water
½ cup dry white wine
Salt, pepper to taste

Mix seasonings. Rub chops with this mixture. Place chops in large, greased skillet, add water and cover. Simmer until all water has evaporated, about 45 minutes. Remove cover and brown chops in their own fat. Add wine and cook for a minute or so, turning chops occasionally. Wine should almost be evaporated. Serves 4.

ANSWER - Sandy Tabor of North East, Md. requested a recipe for for bean pie that has the consistency of pumpkin pie. Thanks Mary Lynn Martin, Orrtanna, for sending a recipe that she said is very good.

Can't Believe It's Not Pumpkin Pie

1 can (15½-ounce) kidney beans, drained
1 can (12-ounce) evaporated milk
2 eggs
⅓ cup sugar
1¼ teaspoons ground cinnamon
½ teaspoon ground cloves
½ teaspoon ground nutmeg
⅛ teaspoon ground ginger
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 9-inch unbaked pie shell

Combine all ingredients and mix at medium high speed in blender for 1 minute. Pour mixture into pie shell and bake 30-35 minutes at 375 degrees. (Center of pie may be liquidly but will set as it cools). Chill and serve with whipped topping, if desired.

ANSWER - Frances Shaner, Swoope, Va., requested a recipe for cheese cake that is baked in a tube pan and is high like a pound cake. Thanks to Cheryl Pinkerton of Leonardtown, Md., for sending in two recipes.

Philly Marble Cake

1½ cups sugar
1 cup butter
4 eggs
1½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
8 ounces cream cheese, softened
1½ teaspoon vanilla
2¼ cups cake flour, sifted
2-ounces unsweetened baking chocolate, melted

Combine sugar, cream cheese, butter and vanilla. Blend well. Add eggs one at a time, mixing after each addition. Gradually mix in flour and baking powder. Reserve 2 cups batter. Add chocolate and baking soda to remaining batter. Pour batters alternately into greased and floured 10-inch tube pan; cut through batter with knife for marbled effect. Bake at 325 degrees for 1 hour. Cool 5 minutes. Remove from pan. Drizzle glaze on warm cake.

Glaze: Heat 2 tablespoons butter and 2 tablespoons milk in saucepan. Add 1¼ cups confectioner's sugar, mix well. Stir in ½ teaspoon vanilla.

Holiday Gift Cake

1½ cups sugar
1 cup butter
4 eggs
1½ teaspoons baking powder
¾ cup chopped maraschino cherries, drained
8 ounces cream cheese
1½ teaspoons vanilla
2¼ cups sifted cake flour
½ cup chopped pecans

Combine sugar, cream cheese, butter and vanilla; mix well. Add eggs, one at a time, beating after each addition. Gradually add 2 cups flour and baking powder; blend well. Toss remaining ¼ cup flour with cherries and nuts; fold into batter.

Sprinkle 10-inch tube pan with ½ cup finely chopped pecans. Pour batter into pan and bake at 375 degrees for 1 hour and 10 minutes. Cool 5 minutes; remove from pan. Cool thoroughly. Combine 1½ cups sifted confectioners' sugar with 2 tablespoons milk, mix well. Drizzle over cake. Garnish with additional cherries and nuts.

ANSWER - Doris Garges, Perkasie, requested a recipe for oatmeal shoo-fly pie. Thanks Mrs. Ray Reinecker, York Springs, for your recipe.

Oatmeal Pie

¼ cup butter
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup dark corn syrup or molasses
3 eggs
1 cup quick oats

Cream butter and sugar. Add spices and salt. Stir in syrup. Add eggs one at a time beating well. Add oats. Bake in a 9-inch pastry shell. Bake at 350 degrees about 1 hour until knife comes out clean.

ANSWER - Susan Keeny, Stewartstown, wanted to know how to make hash brown patties to freeze. Thanks Cindy Korver, Gettysburg, for sharing your recipe.

Frozen Hash Brown Potatoes

Take A Look At 4-H'ers Celebrating National 4-H Week

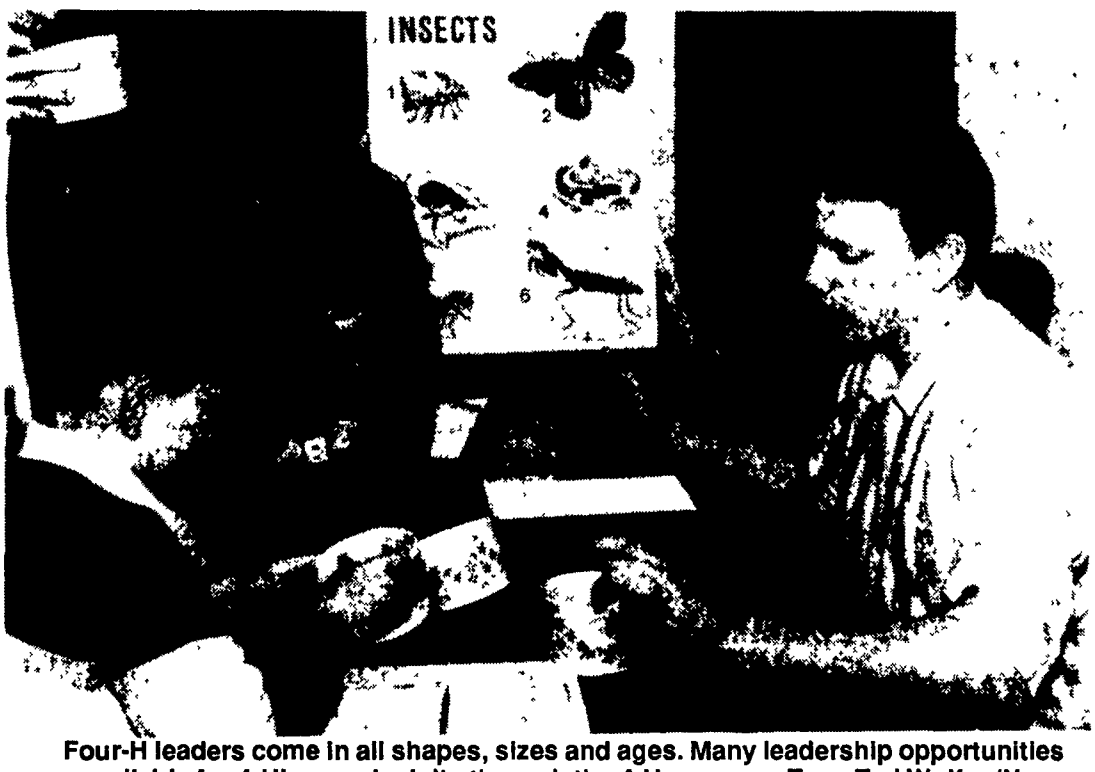
Many of you are 4-H'ers. You ow how important 4-H is in ching you new things and in eting new friends.
In honor of National 4-H week, are printing pictures of some of the fun activities that you can do when you join 4-H.

If you are not a member and would like to join, call your county extension office for more information.

Biking is fun for all ages! Alex Melson (Wilmington) teaches younger 4-H'ers all about bike maintenance as part of the 4-H bicycle education program.

Learn to put together a fashionable wardrobe through the -H clothing and fashion revue projects. Amy Elliott (Green- ood) shows off some of the clothes she's made. She mod- led this outfit in last year's National 4-H Fashion Revue. -H projects include not only construction but wardrobe lanning using ready-to-wear clothing.

Keep your eye on the target! Eric Zippe (Smyrna) teaches younger 4-H'ers the skills necessary to be a winning archer. Join 4-H to learn more about archery and the 4-H shooting sports program.



Four-H leaders come in all shapes, sizes and ages. Many leadership opportunities are available for 4-H'ers and adults through the 4-H program. Teen Ted Wolfer (New- ark) teaches other club members about the entomology project. Teens teach projects and help organize and conduct 4-H activities. Adults serve as club, project and activity leaders.

Looking for the ideal backyard 4-H animal project? Choose sheep. Amy Webb (Wyoming) demonstrates the art of grooming her animal for competition at the Delaware State Fair. This project is popular with many non-farm 4-H'ers who want to have a livestock experience.

Buying Guide For Flannel Sheets

Flannel sheets are a relatively ew fashion, so new, in fact, they vere difficult to find just a few ears ago. Today, flannels are a asic type of bedding. But many rades are available so that an wareness of quality features is elpful when making a selection.

Flannel sheets come in various tyles. Prints are popular, especialy florals and stripes. Fashionable atterns seen in conventional bed heets are also appearing. Solids nclude light blue, beige, off-white nd dusty rose. Yarn-died wovens re more difficult to find, but cre-te an interesting effect. Sheets of his sort usually boast a tartan laid.

While cotton-polyester blends re available, all-cotton flannels are the most popular. Long considered a winter wheet, flannels are being used year round. Air conditioned homes and cool summer nights make them ideal as "lightweight blankets."

When buying conventional bed sheets, the percales and muslins, thread count is a measure of quality. Not so with flannels. The cloth must be napped, a process whereby the threads are "snagged" by a steel, comb-like divide. If the threads are too tightly woven, even a count of 120 is too tight, the cloth would be torn apart in the napping process.

Instead of thread count, picks per square inch are used to distinguish flannel sheets. A pick is a warp yarn that runs the length of the cloth. A weft yarn runs in the opposite direction. Flannels tend to have pick counts that range from 30 to 52 picks per inch. Generally, the higher the picks per inch, the stronger the finer the cloth. But on its own, it does not necessarily ensure a top quality sheet. Sometimes, a very high pick count makes napping more difficult and an uneven finish can result. Ideally, the weight of the sheet and the appearance of the nap should be considered even before the pick count.

Weight means bulk. A heavier flannel sheet contains more yarn than a light one. Flannel weight ranges from 3 ounces to 5 ounces per yard. Those weighing more than 5 ounces per yard are generally more expensive. When shopping, feel the weight of one sheet against the other. The higher weight sheet will be heavier and will appear thicker.

The nap gives flannel its warmth and fuzzy appearance. Judge the nap by inspecting it carefully. The surface should be even. Too many lumps or pills indicate a poor-quality sheet. Flannel fabrics have a tendency to pill, although some manufacturers are introducing flannels that are "pill resistant." A nap that is too long will pill extensively. Also, when the nap is too long, the cloth is weakened and will tend to tear under tension. So, buying flannel with good napping is important.

Check printed flannels carefully. Make certain the nap does not feel stiffer on printed areas than on the background. And also check for flannel that has been napped only on the printed side. Such fabric may be found for fitted sheets and pillow cases. But when buying flat sheets, you will want the kind of flannel that has napping on both sides so that the softness will be against the skin.

Shrinkage is still another factor. Shrinkage of 100 percent cotton flannels in laundering may range from 3 percent to as much as 10 percent. To avoid shrinkage, look for labels stating that the sheet has been Sanforized or preshrunk.

Printed or solid colored flannels should be tested for colorfastness. Check the care label. If it says "wash separately," this indicates that the sheets will lose color for at least the first several washings. If there is any doubt, wash the sheets separately or only with like colors for at least the first few times.

Crawford County Dairy Roundup

At the Crawford County 4-H Dairy Roundup a dairy animal clipping contest was held. The purpose of this program is to improve the skills of the 4-H'ers with their dairy projects in grooming their animals. The youth take an unclipped animal and try to make the animal look as conformationally correct as possible by cutting the hair properly (clipping). In order to do this properly, the 4-H'er must examine the animal, noting its strengths and weaknesses, the length and texture of the animal's hair and shape it properly by clipping to make the animal look its very best.

There are professionals who make a living by properly clipping dairy animals for show; however, the 4-H motto is to "learn by doing". Therefore, the 4-H'er should do their own work and this is the purpose of the clipping contest.

This year's contest had 34 entries and they were divided by the age of the exhibitor as of January 1, 1988.

In the eight-year-old class there were five participants and they were required to clip the animal's tails only. The placings were as follows: 1. Debbie Duncan of Meadville; 2. Jason Morrell of Cochranton; 3. Matthew Lyons of Cochranton.

In the nine-and 10-year-old class there were 11 participants and they were required to clip the tails and heads of the animals. 1. Kimberly Miller of Cambridge Springs; 2. Rebecca Moose of Saegertown; 3. Sara Duncan of Meadville.

The 11-to 13 year-old-class had 10 participants and they were required to take a heifer and clip the whole animal. Placings were as follows:

1. Michelle Lyons of Cochranton; 2. Heather Furry of Guys Mills; 3. John Evans of Conneautville.

The 14 to 18-year-old class group had seven participants and they were required to clip the entire dairy cow. First place and over all champion clipper was Lori Black of Saegertown; 2. Beth Ann Duncan of Meadville; 3. Paige Hyde of Titusville.

The judges for the contest were Joseph Miller from North Carolina and Richard Curtis of Union City.

Cheese Facts

* Cheese consumption has increased 44% since 1977 with consumption per person at 23 pounds per year in 1986. This is estimated to reach 26 pounds by 1990.

* Italian cheeses have led the way, with mozzarella increasing 110% due largely in part to America's love for pizza.

* Cheese is an excellent source of calcium, protein, phosphorus, and vitamin A.

* TEN pounds of milk (4½ quarts) is needed to produce ONE pound of cheese.

* With 400 different kinds to choose from, cheese is one of the most versatile foods available.

* Cheese should be sliced, cut or grated when it is cold, BUT, for optimum, flavor, serve cheese at room temperature.

Next time you are the supermarket, take a look at the variety of cheeses available. Few foods can match the versatility of cheese which offers 400 kinds to choose from. Whether you select a well-known flavor (like Swiss or Cheddar) or become more adventuresome and try a not-so-well known variety (like Asiago or Port du Salut) you will love the versatility cheese will add to your menu.

When selecting cheeses, remember cheeses vary according to taste, texture, color, shape and size of cheese. The most distinctive difference between types of cheeses is flavor. Whether you prefer a sharp, robust flavor or one that is mild and delicate — you will find a cheese that suits your taste.

Cheese can compliment any meal or add a special flair to a favorite recipe. For example, we all love the taste of pizza topped with mounds of mozzarella cheese. But for an out-of-the-ordinary, more contemporary taste, try one of the following recipes which calls for Blue cheese crumbles or shredded Monterey Jack cheese.

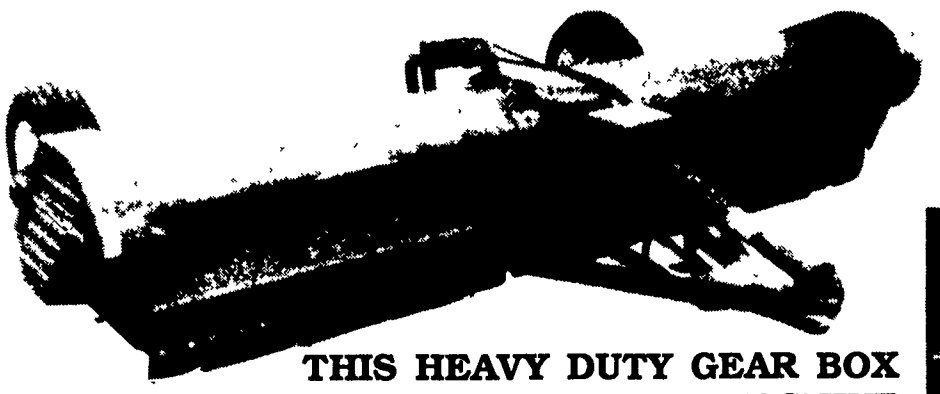
remove from fabrics when treated promptly. The longer the stains remains, the more difficult it becomes to remove. But whether they are taken care of promptly or before laundering the items, stains generally require special attention. Many stains will come out in the wash, especially if good laundering techniques are used. Some, however, are more complex and call for pretreatment.

So why not put together a first aid kit for stain removal and be ready for inevitable spots and spills. Start with a stain removal chart. Of course, there are a number of laundry products and aids you may have on hand that can be used in treating some stains -- detergent, soap, bleach -- chlorine or oxygen, enzyme presoak, prewash soil and stain remover and detergent boosters. Other products stocked in most homes that are also helpful in removing certain stains include ammonia, baking soda and white vinegar. Stain removers that should be part of the kit include a rust remover and solvents such as cleaning fluid, denatured alcohol, rubbing alcohol, turpentine, mineral spirits. Add supplies such as clean, lint-free cloths; paper towels; sponge; brush; dull knife; measuring cup and spoons. Store the kit in the laundry area, ready for use, but out of reach of children.

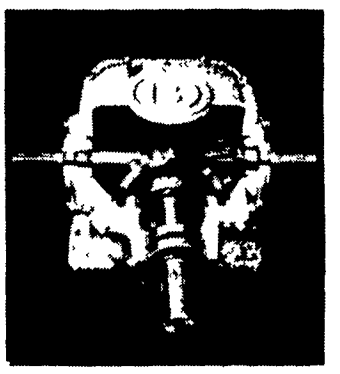
Brillion

FLAIL SHREDDERS

TWO SIZES — 12 AND 15 FOOT CUTTING WIDTHS



THIS HEAVY DUTY GEAR BOX IS THE HEART OF THE MACHINE



Available in 540 RPM and 1000 RPM

The gear box on the Brillion flail shredder is made in Brillion's own modern foundry. It is then assembled with husky machine cut gears and tapered roller bearings. Input and output shafts are 1¾" diameter. The gear box is designed to match the horsepower of large tractors... to keep going when others heat up and quit.

When you buy a Brillion you get the BEST... built-in quality with added strength where it counts..all the way from the heavier hood with replaceable wear plates, right down to the dynamically balanced rotor with knives installed to provide smooth, vibration-free operation. With your Brillion you can cut and shred a full 12 or 15 foot of residue. And you can move right along without costly and time-consuming breakdowns. The rotor shaft is made of 1¾" steel. Drives between the gear box and pulleys are 2¾" high capacity tubing, shielded by a metal sleeve. The PTO shaft is integrally shielded with a dent-resistant plastic tube.

MICROWAVE MINUTES

By JOYCE BATTCHER

Pork, along with tart harvest apples and brightly-colored vegetables, highlights many Octoberfest food celebrations. Today's recipes reflect those autumn flavors and colors.

Pork chops microwave on a low power setting. But, when chops are thinly sliced into strips, the strips cook on High power.

Pork chops stay moist and tender when covered with plastic wrap during microwaving. Thin pork strips tend to toughen if covered tightly with plastic wrap, but they stay juicy and tender with a waxed paper cover.

Four boneless quarter-pound pork chps microwave in 11 to 13 minutes on Medium Low. A pound of strips takes only 3 to 5 minutes on High power.

So take your pick from the recipes below, and microwave-slow-cook pork chops or microwave-fast-cook pork strips. But before you try the recipes, here are some tips on microwaving pork.

Microwaving Pork Chops

Microwave pork chops on a low power setting of about 200 watts power. On most microwave ovens, this setting is called Medium Low and is 30% power. On some brands, it may be called Defrost or Setting No. 3. On a 400-watt microwave oven, it will be 50% (½ of 400, or 200 watts). On a 500-watt microwave with six to 10 powers, it may be Setting No. 4 (40% of 400 watts, or 200 watts).

Weigh chops or note the weight listed on the store label. If you have less than the recipe calls for, microwave less time.

Choose plastic wrap for a tight cover to hold in heat and steam.

To insure even cooking, turn chops over and rearrange them halfway through cooking. Rotate dish as necessary.

Cook chops to a medium doneness -- that means chops can look slightly pink when done. They will be juicy, tender and safe to eat. According to the Food Safety and Inspection Service, fresh pork can now safely be cooked to a medium doneness (160 F). FSIS tests show that trichinella spiralis (a parasite that is in a tiny amount -- only .1 percent -- of the U.S. pork supply) is destroyed instantly when pork is cooked to an internal temperature of 137 F (rare is 147 F).

Be careful not to overcook chops. It takes some practice to judge doneness correctly. See German-Style Pork Chops and Cabbage (below) for specific doneness checks. Let chops stand, still tightly covered, and check for doneness after the standing time.

Microwaving Pork Strips

In micro-stir-frying, thin pork strips cook quickly on High power, but they must be stirred often during the very short cooking time. Otherwise, some strips will overcook and toughen and others will remain undone. Stir strips as indicated in the recipe -- usually after each two minutes of cooking for a pound of strips or after one minute of cooking with smaller amounts.

A waxed paper cover holds in some heat and helps promote even cooking, while allowing steam to escape and produce a stir-fry taste.

German-Style Pork Chops And Cabbage

1½ teaspoons paprika

1½ teaspoons onion salt or ¼ teaspoon onion powder

1-1¼ pounds boneless pork loin chops, ½ inch thick (4 butterfly chops or 5 small chops)

3 cups thinly sliced red cabbage

1 large unpeeled apple, chopped

3 tablespoons vinegar

3 tablespoons water

1 tablespoon sugar

3 whole cloves or dash ground cloves

Salt and pepper (optional)

In small dish, combine paprika and onion salt; sprinkle on both sides of pork chops and lightly rub in. Place chops in microwave-safe baking dish, with thickest parts to outside edges of dish. Cover tightly with plastic wrap. Microwave on Medium Low (180 to 210 watts; 30% power) 6 minutes (for 1 pound) to 8 minutes (for 1¼ pounds). (Chops will be barely warm.) Turn chops over, rearranging so least-done parts are to outside edges of dish. Re-cover and vent by turning back one small corner of plastic wrap. Continue microwaving on Medium-Low 6 to 8 minutes, rotating dish as necessary for even cooking.

To check for doneness, do not remove plastic wrap. Look at chops and press each with fingertip through plastic wrap. If chops have a large reddish spot and/or feel very soft (raw) in centers or near bones, continue microwaving; checking for doneness after each 30 seconds of microwaving. When done, chops should still look pink in center and feel soft. Let stand, tightly covered, 5 minutes.

Check chops for final doneness by cutting a small slit near center. When perfectly done, chops should be medium doneness -- juices will be pink, and pork will be tender, slightly pink and juicy. If rare, re-cover and microwave about 2 minutes longer on Medium Low. Let stand again.

While chops stand, place cabbage, apples, vinegar, water, sugar and cloves in microwave-safe 1-quart casserole; cover with plastic wrap. Microwave (High) 6 to 9 minutes, stirring once, until cabbage is tender. Remove whole cloves. Move chops to one end of dish; add cabbage, stirring it into meat juices; arrange chops on top. Season to taste with salt and pepper, if desired. Makes about 4 servings.

For 4 bone-in chops (½ -inch thick, total weight 1 to 1¼ pounds): Microwave on Medium-Low, 5 minutes (for 1 pound) to 7 minutes (for 1¼ pounds). Turn chops over and rotate dish; re-cover. Continue microwaving on Medium-Low 5 to 8 more minutes. Check for doneness and allow standing time, as above.

Autumn Stir-Fry
Pork & Vegetables

2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon cornstarch
½ teaspoon paprika
½ teaspoon celery salt
1 pound boneless pork chops or pork steak, cut into thin strips
1 small onion, thinly sliced
1 small green pepper, cut in match-stick pieces

In microwave-safe 2-quart casserole, stir together Worcestershire sauce, cornstarch, paprika and celery salt; stir in pork strips and onion. Let stand 5 to 10 minutes at room temperature. Refrigerate, if necessary to marinate longer.

Microwave pork mixture, covered wth waxed paper, on High, 3 to 5 minutes, stirring well after each 2 minutes, or until just done. Stir in pepper and apples; re-cover. Microwave (High) 1 to 4 minutes, stirring after each 1 minute, or until peppers are barely tender-crisp. Makes 4 servings.

Each serving: 254 calories, 27g protein, 9g fat, 14g carbohydrate, 332mg sodium, 83mg cholesterol.

4-H Credited For Developing Leadership And Scholarship In 78,000 PA Youth

BY LOU ANN GOOD
and LISA RISSER

EPHRATA (Lancaster) — October 2 through 8 is National 4-H week. Lancaster Farming salutes the 78,400 Pennsylvania youth who are part of this cooperative extension program.

In 1914, the 4-H program was created to provide an informal educational program for boys and girls ages 8 to 19 years regardless of sex, race, religion or handicap.

Today the program offers hundreds of fun opportunities in areas such as veterinary science, archery, clothing and food. Although there are many teens worthy of special recognition, we chose three as representative of the 4-H members who gain scholarship and leadership skills through participating in this program that utilizies the skills of 12,351 volunteers. Those three include Anne Wisneski of Latrobe (Susquehanna County), Grant Stiles of Lake Ariel (Wayne County) and Kim Romain of Sharpsville (Mercer County).

Grant Stiles currently is studying at Penn State for a degree in entomology, an interest that began with a 4-H project. Here he is identifying an insect on his spreading board.

Anne Wisneski

"If you want to travel, join 4-H." That's the advice Anne Wisneski of Latrobe (Susquehanna County) tells her peers. The West Moreland Travelogue, the 4-H club in which Anne is involved, has traveled to places such as Quebec, Canada and Texas.

Traveling expenses are covered by fundraisers such as candy bar selling. It required stacks of 50-cent candy bars, but Anne said, "I didn't have any trouble selling them at school."

Anne has belonged to the travel club for four years. She said members decide as a group where they'd like to visit and how much money they need to raise. After raising the money, they fly to their destination and spend ten days there. Nineteen members went to Canada, 25 to Houston and, this year, members are planning to go to Minnesota in July.

Members board with host families. "It helps us learn about the area," Anne explained. "And we write reports on the area." Sometimes their host family reciprocates the visit the following year.

Is this the latest fashion? It was for Ann Wisneski when she modeled it at the 4-H Funny Fashion Show held in Westmoreland County.

In addition to traveling to new places, Anne said that the experiences have definitely helped her "to become more knowledgeable in social studies and geographical information." She added, "It gives me confidence to do things I wouldn't normally do."

(Turn to Page B18)

Kim Romain, a line captain for her high school marching band, uses the leadership skills she learned as a 4-H'er to manage the people in her squad.

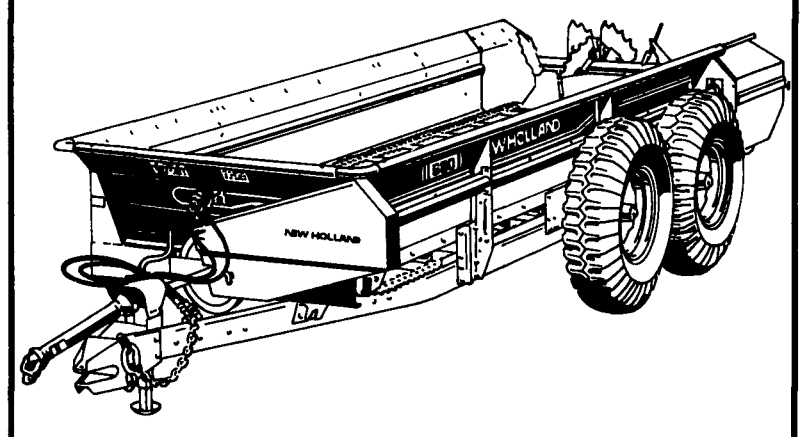
WE'LL PROVE ALL SPREADERS ARE NOT THE SAME

Let's deal for a spreader now

When it's time to spread manure, you need a spreader that's built to give trouble-free service for years. The New Holland Model 795 delivers that kind of reliability. Load after load, this giant spreads manure fast. It hauls 410 bushels. Spreader paddles are made of high-strength, heat-treated, abrasion- and corrosion-resistant alloy steel, to resist bending and retain their sharp cutting edges. And Bonded Protection guarantees the sides and floor for the life of the spreader.

If this sounds like the kind of reliability you want, let's make a deal for a "795."



Get a good deal on a Strong Box

I'm making deals on the complete spreader line, especially the Model 680 spreader. This Strong Box hauls and spreads up to 6½ tons per trip. And, it's built to last. The heavy duty steel A-frame extends back under the box so it carries the load instead of pulling it. And Bonded Protection guarantees the spreader sides and floor for the life of the spreader.

If you appreciate old fashioned reliability, you'll really like the "680." Stop in today and let's deal.

4-H Credited For Developing Leadership

Seventeen-year-old Anne, daughter of Marian and Gerone Wisneski, credits her parents for encouraging her 4-H involvement. "When my oldest brother joined 4-H, my parents were so excited about the program that they became involved by leading several clubs." Over the years Anne has been part of many of the home economics clubs including foods, nutrition, sewing, crocheting, and flower arranging. "Everything I've done, I've really enjoyed," she said. "I love activities. My list of activities goes on and on forever. And 4-H has been the starting point everything."

Four-H has also steered Anne's career preparation to elementary education and child psychology. She said, "As a teen leader, I enjoyed watching kids' faces light up when something excites them."

Some activities with which she's currently involved include softball, Junior achievement, Catholic Youth Organization, volleyball, and 4-H junior leader and she's listed in "Who's Who Among American High School Students."

Grant Stiles

There probably isn't a 4-H project that 18-year-old Grant Stiles hasn't been involved in. Living as an only child on an isolated 101-acre farm, Grant busied himself with projects such as veterinary science, textiles, forestry, petroleum power, gardening, and horticulture. But the one that has captivated his attention is entolmolgy.

"I didn't know what it was, so I took it and I've liked it ever since," he said simply.

The project, which encompassed collecting and displaying insects, building equipment and writing about insects, has become his career path. Grant currently is a sophmore attending Penn State and wishes to do field research in entomology.

The son of Anita and Grant Stiles of Lake Ariel, Grant would like to get into taxonomy (identification) of insects. "I want to travel and work outside, not in a lab," he stated.

"I started with 4-H 11 years ago. My first project was in clothing: I made a dress shirt," Grant recalled. "Four-H was fun for me."

Grant's enthusiasm for his projects led him to earn numeroud local and area awards. "I got first or second place in just about everything I competed in," he said. "I always try to be first, but it doesn't always work that way." Among his accomplishments include showing championship dairy and livestock animals.

During high school Grant also participated in wrestling, FFA, and IASA, which was the high school's industrial arts club.

Four-H is more than just a fun club to Grant. "It's a great organization. It gets your blood going when you compete and you can meet other people. I've learned to speak up for myself and to stand up straight and tall in front of an audience."

As a 4-H'er Grant participated in showing dairy cows such as this Jersey.

This summer Kim employed the knowledge and confidence she gained in 4-H to teach native Indians and Eskimos in Fairbanks, Ala.

4-H Credited

when she became one of two head counselors for the Mercer County 4-H junior campout in June.

Her organizational skills were employed as she planned activities for the day-and-a-half camp. Her social skills were used to help trouble shoot and solve problems. Her domestic knowledge helped her make lunch for the youngsters. Finally the confidence she gained through public speaking enabled her to lead the campers in song.

Kim, the daughter of Margaret and John Romain, became involved with 4-H 10 years ago as a seven-year-old. She has been active in several projects including goats, leader programs, and photography. "I enjoy goats most," she commented. "I've shown them at 4-H shows and the Butler-Area Dairy Goat Association show."

She keeps her breeding goats at the family farm, a 109-acre operation with beef and goats.

For Kim, perhaps the biggest thing 4-H has taught her is leadership. And through leadership, she has learned responsibility. "Four-H has helped me to accept responsibility better and whatever I do I'm not going to be completely inexperienced. When I get a new job to do, I can put together (knowledge of how to do) tasks that I've done before, and they will help me to that job."

As a 4-H'er Kim has participated on the 4-H County Council for three years including a stint as county council secretary. She also has assisted with 4-H Roundup with things such as the box social, small animals judging, and been a judge of the pet show.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

Things are beginning to slow down a bit as the sweet corn is finally all frozen. But, every other day for three months I've picked beans as I put in five different plantings. During the hot summer months, I often trimmed them in the evening in front of a fan. But now when there isn't a lot of pressing work, I'll sit outside on the brick facing of the back porch and trim beans while listening to the noisy crows, geese and squirrels.

However, there is one noise that I do not hear and that disturbs me. The men are filling the silos but at the moment everything is quiet. So I sit and wonder if they had a breakdown or maybe the silo pipe is clogged again. A farm wife also includes in her wondering and worrying whether or not one of the men might have gotten hurt. Machinery is so unforgiving of lapses and memory carelessness.

The other Sunday my husband and I drove to northern Lancaster County to see the "Foxfire House" near Denver that is used by the girl scouts to experience life in the 19th century. It is an historic two story sandstone building with red doors and trim. The land was purchased in 1801 by Robert Coleman the ironmaster.

I enjoy seeing old houses with their chair rails, wooden pegs for clothes and low ceilings. The house was furnished with period pieces and girl scouts explained the use of different items in each room.

I was provoked at myself as I somehow missed looking at their garden. I wanted to see the herbs and vegetables that they were growing. And, on top of that I left my camera in the car and could not take a picture of the old house. We had parked quite a distance away and had to walk through the woods to see the house and exhibits.

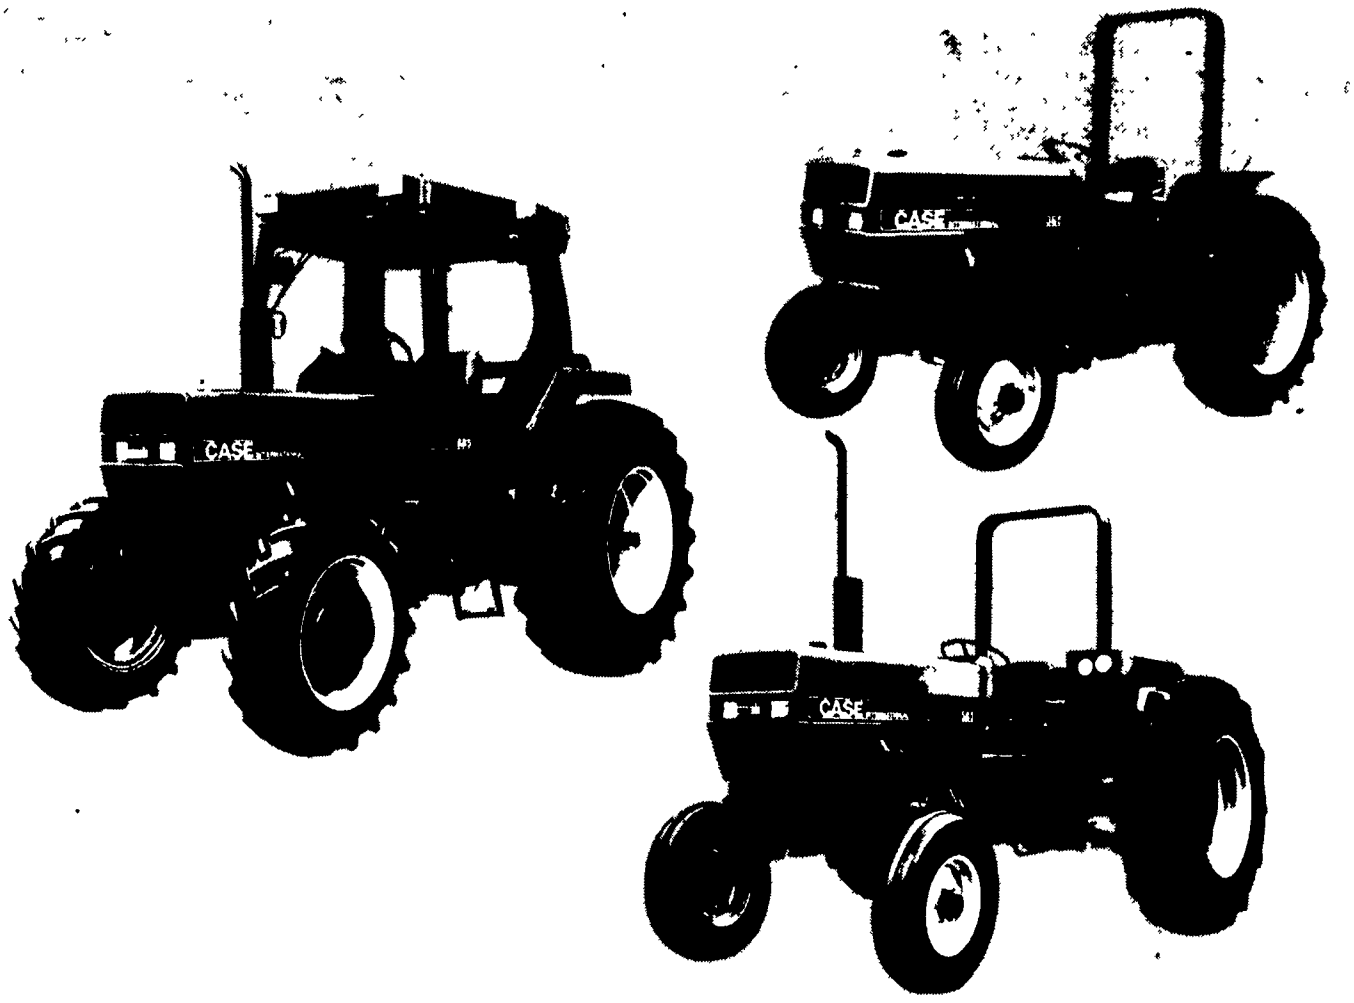
Best Values in New Equipment



Case IH: Your best choice in general-purpose tractors.

Five basic power sizes in 21 different styles make Case IH 85 Series tractors the value leaders in their class. There are literally no boundaries in the types of jobs they handle—whether in field, feedlot, orchard or vineyard.

With four basic styles—row-crop, utility, low-profile and Mechanical Front Drive (MFD), you can tailor an 85 Series tractor to your specific farming and cropping practices.

These Case IH tractors are equipped with nearly every standard feature you could want. You enjoy smooth, sure electro-hydraulic power shifting with a dash-mounted toggle switch (standard on 885, optional on others). You can shuttle shift to clean up feedlots, scrape and level loading areas or move bulk feed. You move quickly, almost effortlessly through 16 speeds forward, and eight in reverse.

There's a lot to see in the Case IH 85 Series tractors. See them now at your nearby Case IH dealer.

Pork Favorites

LAYERED SAUSAGE CASSEROLE

Potatoes, peeled and sliced thin
Shredded cabbage
Sausage, cut in chunks

Use amounts of ingredients according to number feeding. Layer potatoes, cabbage, then sausage and season with salt and pepper. Repeat for another series of layers. Bake in 325-degree oven until done. Or mix everything together and stuff a pig's stomach.

Joanne Musser
Lititz

PORK SAUSAGE CAKE

1 cup raisins
2 cups brown sugar
½ pound ground pork
1 teaspoon cinnamon
2 teaspoons baking soda
2 cups flour

Put raisins in saucepan and cover with a little water. Boil 5 minutes, then let cool. Drain, retaining liquid. Measure raisin liquid and add enough water to make 1 cup. Dissolve baking soda in liquid. Mix together raisins, liquid, and remaining ingredients. Add a little more flour if batter isn't stiff enough. Put in 8x13-inch pan and bake for 40 minutes in 350-degree oven.

Isabel Shupp
Danville

CASSEROLE ESPANOL

1 pound pork sausage
½ cup chopped onion
Two 15-ounce cans caliente style chili beans
1 egg
⅔ cup milk
2½ tablespoons water
½ teaspoon chili powder
12-ounce package corn muffin mix

In large skillet, brown sausage, breaking it into small chunks. Remove sausage with slotted spoon, set aside. Pour off all but 1 tablespoon fat. Add onion, saute until tender. Stir in beans, sausage, water and ¼ teaspoon chili powder. Pour into shallow 2-quart casserole. Combine corn muffin mix, milk, egg, and remaining chili powder. Spoon around top edge of casserole. Bake at 350 degrees for 40 minutes.

Mrs. Charles Dively
Spring Run

PORK STUFFED MUSHROOMS

Mushroom caps
pork sausage

Wash mushrooms and drain after taking off the stems. Stuff with pork sausage and arrange on pan sprayed with vegetable coating. Cook in 350-degree oven for about 1 hour, basting with own juices periodically. Top with mozzarella just before removing from oven. NOTE: amount of sausage depends on size of mushroom caps.

Frances R. Hopkins
Avondale

SKILLET SUPPER

1 pound sausage
1 large onion, chopped
1 medium green pepper, chopped
1 pint canned tomatoes
½ cup water or tomato juice
2 cups uncooked elbow macaroni
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
2 cups sour cream

Brown sausage, breaking meat apart with fork. Drain fat. Stir in remaining ingredients except sour cream. Bring to boil; cover pan and simmer, stirring often. Cook 20 to 25 minutes or until macaroni is tender. Blend in sour cream, reheat just to boiling. Serves 6.

Betty Stevenson
Mercersburg

TOAD-IN-THE-HOLE

4 slices bacon
½ pound loose pork sausage
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1½ cups milk
3 eggs

Cook bacon until crisp; drain, and set aside 2 tablespoons drippings. Crumble bacon and set aside. Brown sausage in same skillet. Drain. Meanwhile, mix flour, baking powder, and 1 teaspoon salt. Add milk and eggs. Beat until smooth. Spread bacon drippings in baking dish. Place sausage in dish, top with bacon. Pour batter over top. Bake at 400 degrees for 30 minutes.

Wooddstown, NJ

SAUSAGE & CABBAGE DINNER

1-1½ pound loose sausage
3-4 cups diced potatoes
1 can cream of celery soup
½ can water
2 cups diced carrots
2-3 cups cabbage, cut up
Salt and pepper to taste

Brown sausage in large frying pan. Drain fat. Add celery soup and water, mix. Add diced carrots, potatoes, cabbage, celery, and spices. Cover and cook over low heat for 45 minutes to 1 hour or until vegetables are tender.

Donna Bollinger
Lititz

PORK SAUSAGE DISH

1 pound pork sausage
6 cups shredded cabbage
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon savory seed
Dash of pepper
2 cups cooked noodles
1 cup apple sauce

Brown sausage, crumble. Drain all but 2 tablespoons drippings. Add cabbagge, salt, savory seed, and pepper. Cover and cook 10 to 15 minutes. Stir in noodles and applesauce. Cook 2 minutes.

ITALIAN SOUP

1 pound Italian pork sausage
Can green beans
Can corn
2 large peppers
2 medium onions
16-ounce can whole tomatoes
16-ounce can tomato sauce
3 chicken bouillon cubes
2 cups water
8 ounces mushrooms
2½ cups small pasta shells

In Dutch oven, brown sausage. Let cool and cut into ½-inch slices. Combine next nine ingredients and cook for 45 minutes. Add shells and cook until tender, stirring occasionally. Top with mozzarella or Provolone cheese.

Therese Lehr
Pine Grove

SAUERKRAUT & SAUSAGE

1 can sauerkraut
1 pound fresh or smoked sausage

Cut sausage in 3-inch lengths. Put ingredients in casserole dish or iron skillet. Add 1 cup water. Put in 375-degree oven and bake about 1 hour, stirring occasionally. Add water as needed.

Joan Young
Lititz

SCRAMBLED SAUSAGE

2 cups sausage
⅓ cup onion
2 cups boiled potatoes
1¼ cup milk

Cook sausage in heavy skillet until brown. Break up with fork while cooking. Drain off fat. Finely chop onions and dice potatoes. Add to sausage and cook slowly for 10 minutes. Add milk. Continue cooking for 5 minutes, stirring constantly.

APPLES BAKED WITH CHEESE & SAUSAGE

12 pork sausage links
4 tablespoons flour
2 cups hot water
1 tablespoon vinegar
½ teaspoon salt
4 medium apples
2 tablespoons brown sugar
¼ pound cheese, sliced

Place sausages in cold skillet; heat and cook slowly until browned. Remove sausages to casserole dish. Blend flour with ¼ cup sausage drippings; brown. Stir in water gradually; cook until thickened. Add vinegar and salt.

Pare, core and cut apples into rings. Arrange apples in casserole over sausages; sprinkle with brown sugar and pour sauce over all. Cover and bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes or until apples are tender. Arrange cheese on top; bake uncovered until cheese is browned. NOTE: sausage patties may be fried and substituted for sausage links.

ZUCCHINI & SAUSAGE

2 pounds small zucchini
½ pound sausage
¼ cup finely chopped onion
½ cup cracker crumbs
2 eggs, slightly beaten
¼ teaspoon thyme
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Wash zucchini and trim off ends. Cook whole in boiling salt water for 15 minutes. Drain and chop coarsely. Brown sausage and onion in a skillet and cook over moderate heat, stirring frequently.

In bowl, combine meat mixture, zucchni, crumbs, eggs, thyme, salt and ¼ cup of cheese. Pour into shallow 2-quart baking dish. Sprinkle with remaining cheese. Bake uncovered for 40 to 45 minutes. Serves 4.

Delaware 4-H'er Kim Hobson Spends Summer In Switzerland

NEWARK, De. — Mary Delawareans will remember the summer of '88 for its stifling heat and drought, but not Kim Hobson of Hockessin, who spent most of the summer in Switzerland as a participant in the International 4-H Youth Exchange (IFYE) Ambassador Program. " It rained almost every morning," says Hobson, a senior at Alexis I. DuPont High School, "but it was usually clear and comfortable for the rest of the day."

From the moment she arrived in Switzerland at the end of June until her return home six weeks later, Hobson experienced much more than nice weather. She lived and worked with three host families, learned about local customs, visited historical and cultural sites, and experimented with a new language.

The Ambassador Program is open to 4-H members between the ages of 15 and 19. When they apply to the program, they select the country they'd like to visit and then look for sponsors who agree to provide financial support for the trip. A friend sponsored Hobson, who was one of 16 4-H'ers from the United States who went to Switzerland this summer. 4-H is the youth branch of Cooperative Extension.

The theme of the visit was dairy farming, so the group spent five days at the Rutti Agricultural School in Bern learning about Swiss dairy farm operations.

Many Swiss farming students have classes just one day a week in the summer and spend the rest of their time working on different farms. Most of Hobson's education at the agricultural school came outside the classroom as well. Rutti "field trips" included a milk processing plant and a dairy farm in the Alps.

Hobson's first host family, the Denzlers, lived in Nanikon, a farming community. She stayed there for 18 days, along with a 4-H leader from California. "It seemed more suburban than rural, with a lot of houses fairly close to each other," she says. "The barns are attached to the houses to provide warmth for the cows."

The land around the house was used for apple, cherry and pear orchards, while currants and raspberries were grown in the front yard. Families grew potatoes, peas, grains and grass in plots down the road from their houses.

Two of the Denzler's five children, 25- and 28-year-old sons Urs and Willie, lived at home and worked on the farm, but Hobson found plenty of ways to pitch in. She helped dig potatoes, pick peas and store grass in the barn loft, and sometimes her host mother let her help with cooking and cleaning.

Hobson's visit to Nanikon wasn't all work, however. She attended a wedding in a local church--complete with a barn reception. She also went shopping in Zurich (about 20 minutes away by train), climbed a 6,000-foot peak in the Alps, biked around and swam in Lake Greifensee, and went white-water rafting on the Rhine River.

In spite of all the excitement, Hobson, who had never traveled abroad, admits she was a little homesick, especially at first. The language barrier didn't help. "It was a struggle to communicate since the Denzlers didn't speak any English, and I took Spanish in high school and didn't understand Swiss German." This is the language she heard most often. (Switzerland's three official languages are French, German and Italian.)

Kim Hobson of Hockessin traveled to Switzerland for six weeks this summer as part of the International 4-H Youth Exchange Ambassador Program. She lived with three different families and learned about local customs and Swiss dairy farming.

Many Swiss students start learning English in the ninth grade, so Hobson occasionally heard her native language spoken. In addition, she went to dances for the 16 4-H delegates, who were all staying with different host families in the same area.

Some of the new friends Hobson made in Switzerland belong to the country's closest equivalent to America's 4-H program, Landjugend ("youth from the land"). It's open to young people ages 16 to 26 who are interested in agriculture.

Hobson stayed for 11 days which the Schmidts, her second host family, in Unterstammheim, which she says was very different from Nanikon. "It's more modern, and the barns are separate from the houses," Hobson says. The family kept chickens and 13 milking cows, and they grew corn, grains and potatoes.

In one way the town reminded her of many other places she visited in Switzerland--it was very clean. "You hardly ever see litter around, and people are very concerned and careful about conservation. They save glass bottles for recycling, and they use a lot of biodegradable materials."

In addition, Hobson noticed strong opposition to nuclear power plants. "My host families were very upset about the nuclear power issue," says Hobson, who saw two nuclear plants in her travels through Switzerland. "They didn't even like to talk about it."

Hobson stayed next in Burgdorf with the Anliker family. One of their two children, 20-year-old Christa, participated in an IFYE exchange to Virginia and South Dakota farms last year. She acted as Hobson's "tour guide," taking her bowling and to movies and discos.

Although the Anlikers are not farmers (Christa's father, a machinist, repairs farm equipment), Hobson was still in farm country. She and Christa went to a friend's farm to dig potatoes, and they baked bread at Christa's aunt's farm.

She observed differences between Swiss and American eating habits during her trip. "Their lunch is like our dinner," she says. "Families gather for about an hour

Northeast Farmer Co-op Seeks US Ag Committee Rep

WESTMINSTER, VT. — For several years, Congressman Jim Jeffords (R-Vt) has been the only Northeasterner to sit on the U.S. House Agriculture Committee. Since Jeffords announced his intention to seek a seat in the U.S. Senate two years ago, The Council of Northeast Farmer Cooperatives has been working to find a replacement.

"The next Congress will write a new Farm Bill," noted Steve Kerr, Executive Director of The Council. "Much of the direction for that bill will come from the House Agriculture Committee. With Congressman Jeffords leaving, it is critical that another Northeasterner move onto the Committee.

"We are pleased that candidates in three different Northeastern Congressional Districts - two in New York, one in Vermont - have pledged to make the Agriculture Committee their first choice of committee assignments if elected."

Because seniority is so important in Congress, only newly elected Members of Congress are likely to seek a seat on the Agriculture Committee. In addition, only Districts with a rural constituency can normally be expected to produce candidates interested in serving on Agriculture.

"There are relatively few truly rural Districts in the Northeast. Only three will likely elect new Members this year," said Kerr. "In addition to Vermont, they are the New York Districts now represented by Congressman George Wortley (N.Y., 27) and Congressman Jack Kemp (N.Y., 31). The new Congressperson from one of these Districts will hopefully represent Northeastern farmers on the Agriculture Committee."

In New York, Jim Walsh, Republican candidate for the 27th District (Onondaga and most of Madison counties), has said that he will "fight for a seat on the House Agriculture Committee ... and give farmers the representation they want."

Also in New York, Dave Swarts, Democratic candidate for the 31st District (w. N.Y. and the Finger Lakes), has noted that "the agriculture industry has a multi-billion dollar effect on New York's economy and has no representation on the Agriculture Committee. That must change before Congress starts writing the 1990 Farm Bill."

In Vermont, all three contenders for its lone House seat have pledged to seek an Agriculture Committee assignment. Republican Peter Smith has said that he will serve "out of a deep sense of commitment to our farmers and Vermont's need to maintain its voice in the rural affairs of our nation through a seat on the House Agriculture Committee."

Democrat Paul Poirier has stated that "the (next) Vermont Congressman has to ask for a seat on the Agriculture committee ... considering the Northeast has only the present Vermont Congressman (who will be leaving)."

Independent Bernie Sanders answers, with "an emphatic yes", that he "will seek a position on the House Agriculture Committee."

"We are extremely pleased to have these commitments from so many good candidates for House seats," Kerr observed. One will presumably provide Northeastern farmers with the regional representation that they need."

Congressmen Frank Horton (R-N.Y.), Matt McHugh (D-N.Y.) and Sherwood Boehlert (R-N.Y.) have pledged to work with their respective party caucuses to ensure that at least one of these candidates actually receives an assignment to the Agriculture Committee.

Farm Essentials.

Cows Crops. And a Scavenger® spreader. The three essentials for higher productivity and a more successful farm operation.

Manure is money.
According to ag experts at the University of Missouri, the average dairy cow produces 70 pounds of manure every day—up to 13 tons a year Worth about $5 00/ton, that equates to $65.00 per cow a year. If you own a 60-head herd that's almost $4,000 of free fertilizer. And in today's farm environment that adds up to big savings

Scavenger—good to your crops, good to you.
To get the most from your manure you need a spreader to efficiently manage manure. A spreader that works with you. A spreader designed and built for today's farming. You need a Scavenger

Scavenger loads quickly and spreads fast. And thanks to advanced engineering, Scavenger spreads all kinds of manure—liquid, semi-solid, pen pack (even frozen)—all year 'round But more importantly, Scavenger's patented moveable square-auger and Variflo discharge combine to let you choose your optimum rate of application—from top dressing to heavy springtime spreading You get the kind of spreads your crops need—nice and even, without damaging "hotspots". With Scavenger, your crops receive the essential nutrients to produce better yields

See Scavenger for yourself.
Don't be misled by claims of other manufacturer's spreaders that say they do it all See Scavenger for yourself and compare actual capabilities. We think you'll find your choice obvious—you'll choose Scavenger® n the middle of the day to eat a big, vell-balanced meal with meat, egetables, bread and fruit and a essert of cake and cookies." Hob-on says the Swiss enjoy ice cream just as Americans do, but she didn't acquire their taste for warm milk.

Hobson had a few experiences that seemed familiar. On August 1, Switzerland's Fourth of July, she watched a fireworks display near a spectacular waterfall on the Rhine River.

Now that she's back home and back to school, Hobson often thinks about her Swiss families and friends with a twinge of "homesickness in reverse." She also misses the other United States delegates who traveled with her. "Participating in the IFYE program was a rewarding way to spend the summer. It was a once-in-a-lifetime experience to learn about different ways of life in another country by living them, rather than by just visiting tourist attractions. I'll never forget it."

WE'RE GROWING BETTER

Eating Out And Eating Well

As commendable as your eating habits may be at home, if you're like many Americans, dining out is license for delightful and reckless abandon. Such a reward may be fine as an occasional event, but we Americans eat out an average of 3.7 times a week according to the National Restaurant Association. Frequent dining out can add up to a lot of overindulging. To help you resist the extremes, happily enjoy and still be able to deal with your conscience tomorrow, the American Dairy Association offers some practical suggestions for frequent eating out...sensibly.

Avoid temptation. Patronize restaurants with which you are familiar and decide what you'll order in advance. Don't be tempted by the menu or your companions.

Beware imposters. Restaurants that use only real dairy products often display the red and white "REAL" Seal on their menus. Pizza Hut, McDonald's, Denny's and Hardy's are just a few restaurants which use the "REAL" Seal. If you're not sure, ask. Be especially wary of nondairy creamers and whipped toppings. They are often extremely high in saturated fats. If you're watching your cholesterol, use skim or low-fat milk in your coffee. Or, carry a small amount of powdered skim milk with you.

Curb your appetite. Apply the breaks with the 100 percent natural appetite curbs — exercise and water. Walk to the restaurant (or park a few blocks away, if possible). Drink a big glass of water before you order.

Ask questions. Don't let an impatient waitress/waiter intimidate you. You're entitled to know how the food is prepared. As a rule of thumb, the simpler the preparation, the better. Broiled, baked, steamed or poached foods are good choices for simple and streamlined entrees. If you're counting calories, try fish and poultry without the skin or choose lean cuts of meat such as beef flank steak, beef sirloin steak, beef rib eye, extra-lean hamburger, pork loin chops, extra-lean ham, leg of lamb or veal loin. Trim excess fat from meat.

Share with a friend. Rather than overindulge, order one entree for two people. Round out your meal with an a la carte serving of cottage cheese, vegetables, salad or bread. Or, substitute an appetizer — such as boiled shrimp or baked ravioli — or a soup for your main course.

Make substitutions. Instead of the fries or high-calorie potato salad that comes as part of the meal, ask for a side salad, fruit with yogurt or cottage cheese.

On the side. Request that dressings and sauces be served on the side. If you're counting calories, ask whether the restaurant has any yogurt-based or non-oil dressings. Instead of coating your food in cloak of sauce, dip the tines of the fork in the sauce first, then spear your food.

Kick Off The Season With REAL Cheese

American Dairy Association spokesman Willard Scott invites consumers to "Kick Off The Season With Real Cheese" in a $4.5 million fall football-theme promotion. Targeting consumers age 18 to 54, the promotion will run September 19-November 15.

The fall cheese promotion will feature Scott in radio and television commercials, as well as on innovative point-of-sale materials for retail deli departments and dairy cases.

Advertising

The 30 and 15 second television and radio commercials will encourage the use of cheese as a snack or meal to be eaten while watching football on television. Scott, dressed in a referee uniform, will encourage viewers to put more fun in the football season by enjoying it the official way — with real cheese.'

Instore Promotion

An estimated 22,000 grocery stores will participate in the fall cheese promotion. Dairy Department point-of-sale materials will include a 40" inflatable blimp which carries the KICK OFF slogan, case strips, display cards, and banners with appetite-appealing cheese serving ideas. Stores can also order a life-size figure of Willard Scott enjoying a cheese dog in a stadium setting.

Display, Advertising Contest

ADA will award over 250 prizes to retailers and cheese industry representatives during the national fall cheese display contest. Additionally, advertising managers can compete for similar prizes with ads featuring two real domestic cheeses and the KICK OFF theme.

Mid East United Dairy Industry Association is the local organization for the American Dairy Association and serves as the advertising and promotion arm for the dairy industry throughout Ohio, western Pennsylvania, and parts of West Virginia and Kentucky.

Operate A Soup Kitchen?

HARRISBURG — Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture Boyd E. Wolff announced today his department wants to hear from organizations that operate soup kitchens to feed the homeless. Interested organizations must contact the Department of Agriculture to become part of a program that will distribute $40 million worth of food nationwide.

Wolff explained the food will be made available to eligible organizations through The Hunger Prevention Act of 1988, recently signed into law by The President.

"We currently service thirty-five soup kitchens across the Commonwealth," said Wolff, "but we know there are other programs that need support. We need to identify those other programs and we want to make sure all programs get all the help we can provide."

Organizations should contact the Bureau of Government Donated Food to establish eligibility. The Bureau can be contacted through a special toll free number, 1-800-468-2433.

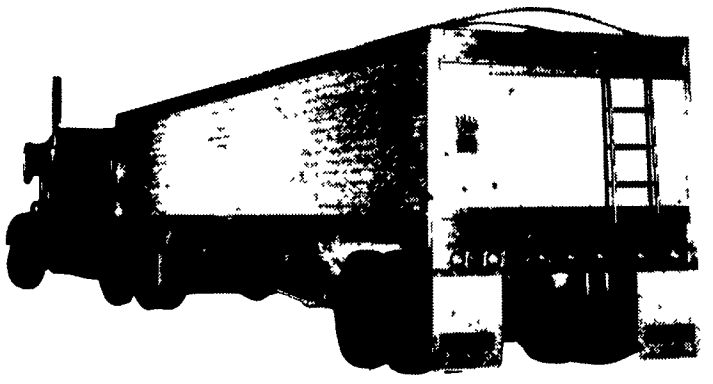
REDESIGNED 1989 TIMPTE GRAIN HOPPER



Got Grain? Then get the trailer that is Timpte tough... the Super Hopper. It's not only built to take it...it's also built to cut fuel costs. The Super Hopper is lightweight and aerodynamically designed to reduce wind drag. When there's grain to be hauled, Timpte does the haulin' best and pulls a lot easier than the rest.

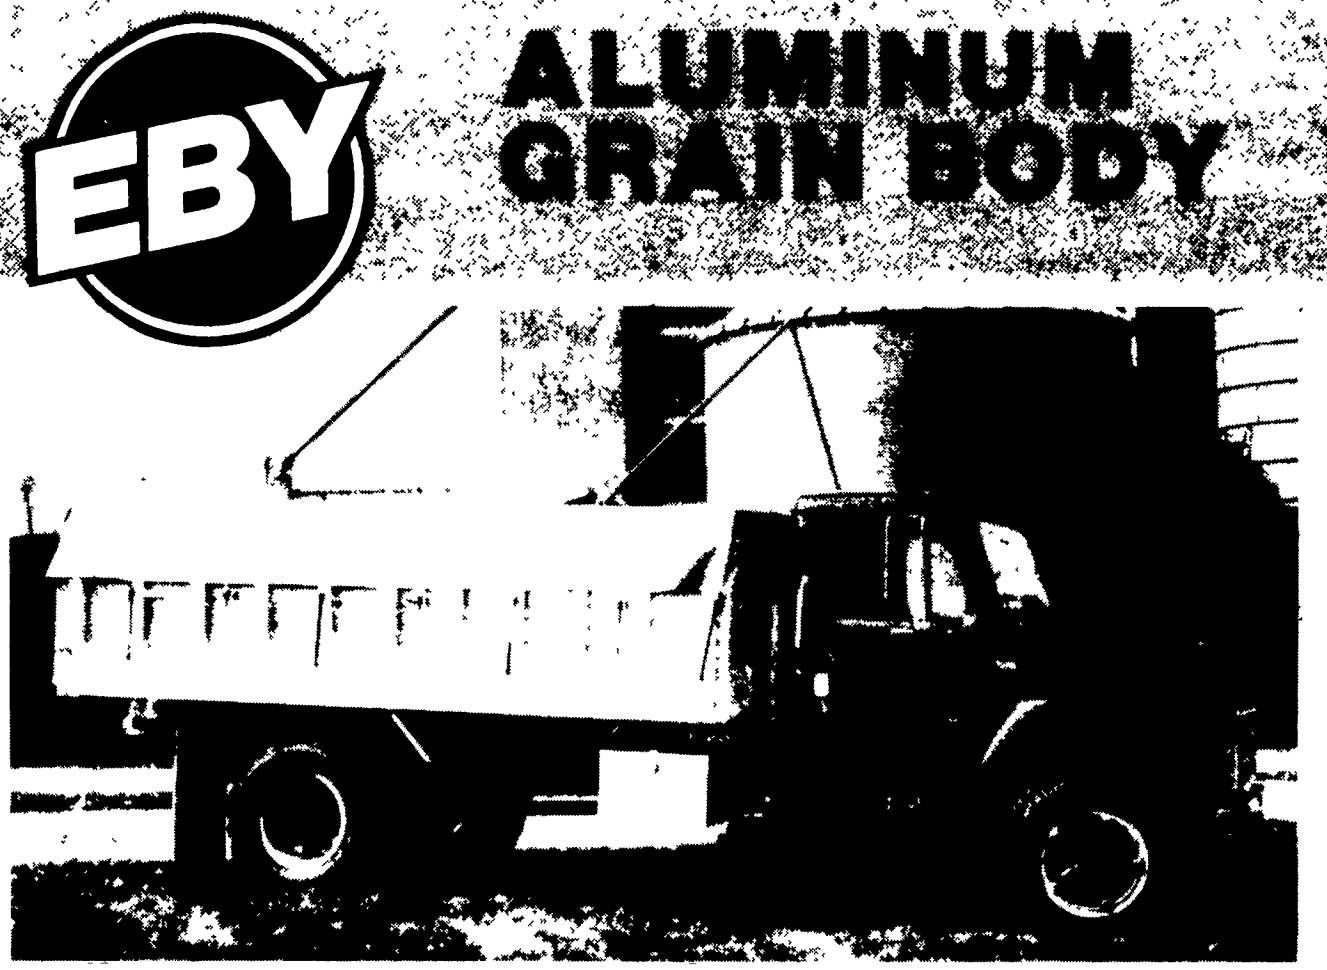
ALUMINUM GRAIN BODY



CONSTRUCTED FOR YEARS OF MAINTENANCE-FREE SERVICE.

You'll get more out of an Eby aluminum grain body Lightweight and rugged aluminum provides rigid, fuel-efficient support to fill your grain hauling needs

Eby packs years of experience, workmanship and performance into every aluminum body it manufactures And special Eby options let you customize your body to your individual operation Available in standard lengths, each unit is designed to provide you with an investment in durable performance and practical economy

Look over these outstanding features.

- Less weight. Eby aluminum bodies weigh up to 30% less than comparable steel and wood construction
- Less maintenance. Aluminum construction won't rust or rot—never needs painting
- Long-life durability. Heavy-duty structural components and hollow-tube frame combine with aluminum floor and sides to stand up to years of hard work

WE'RE HELPING OUR COMPETITORS SEE INTO THE FUTURE.

One day there will be tractors everywhere that glide through eight forward and eight reverse gears without clutching. Ever. Of course, if you'd rather get a leg up now, consider a Kubota.

Our L2850 features the first Glideshift Transmission that requires no clutching. Easy on you, easy on your machine.

The same advanced engineering is responsible for its unique bevel gear four-wheel drive system. And the L2850GST is one of the few tractors in its mid-size class powered by a 4-cylinder direct-injection diesel engine.

It'll be some time before the competition shifts to our way of thinking.

RCMA Applauds New York Assembly Action

BATAVIA, N.Y. — Officials of the Regional Cooperative Marketing Agency, (RCMA) today applauded the action of the New York State Assembly in approving the "Dairy Farmer Bill of Rights" and issued a call to Governor Cuomo to sign the bill into law.

"This bill is important to all dairy farmers because it gives essential protection from unfair and unethical pressure from milk dealers who try to prevent farmers from joining together to market their milk," said William Zuber, a Churchville, N.Y. dairyman and RCMA president.

The bill, introduced by Assemblyman Michael J. Bragman (D-Cicero) passed by a vote of 109-25, despite a heavy lobbying effort by Farmland Dairies Inc. of Wallington, N.J. Farmland lobbyists were unable to convince legislators that a bill protecting farmers rights was "unfair to farmers."

"Opponents of the bill tried very hard to distort the facts about this bill," according to RCMA executive director Ed Anna. "This bill protects the milk supply from unethical business practices — and that benefits consumers as well as farmers."

Similar legislation, introduced by state Sen. John R. Kuhl (R-Hammondsport), passed the state Senate in late July by a near unanimous vote of 55-2.

"This is a victory for all dairy farmers because it prohibits coercion, discrimination, intimidation, bribery, falsehood and conspiracy," Zuber said. "The Bill of Rights allows dairy farmers to make their own choices without fear of unfair pressure from milk dealers."

According to Zuber, the Dairy Farmer Bill of Rights formalizes current state policy regarding milk marketing and allows better endorsement by the state Department of Agriculture and Markets by putting into state law, practices covered under the Federal Agricultural Fair Practices Act.

"After the overwhelming bipartisan support in both the State Senate and Assembly, we're confident the Governor will sign this bill into law," Zuber said.

SLICK CONCRETE CAN BE ROUGHENED

SCABBLING is an effective way to avoid unnecessary losses of cattle. The SCABBLER makes bands about two inches wide approximately 1/8" to 3/16 in. depth. This gives sufficient area for good footing while allowing you to scrape the smooth surface as before. It is near enough to the surface to give your cows full advantage of the roughness and deep enough to remain effective for years. It greatly aids in heat detection.

And the good news is that it is reasonably priced. You have the choice of doing it yourself or having us do it for you. We offer service right to your door. Call us for more details.

Who Gets Your Food Dollar?

BY ALAN W. STROCK

West Chester (Chester) — According to 1987 USDA figures of all monies spent on food, both eating at home and eating out, farmers received only 25%. Labor for processing and marketing received 34%, and packaging at 8% was the next largest cost. The other 33% of the consumer's food dollar went for: other expenses, 7%, advertising, 4.5%, transportation, 4.5%, depreciation, 4%, fuel and power, 3.5%, rent, 3%, before tax profits, 3%, interest, 2%, and repairs, 1.5%. The farmers share of your food dollar depends greatly on the amount of further processing and marketing needed to prepare the raw commodity for the consumers use. So, for foods such as eggs and most fresh fruits and vegetables the farmers receives a much higher percentage of the consumers dollar than for highly processed foods such as breakfast cereals, microwave ready meals, or bakery products. For example, in 1986 the farmer received the following percentage of your food dollar of these foods. eggs, 62%, choice beef, 54%, fresh milk, 49%, potatoes, 39%, frozen orange juice, 37%, fats and oils, 19%, and white bread, 7%.

Food is still an excellent buy in the United States compared to the rest of the world. In 1987 these were the percentages of personal income spent on food consumption in these nations: U.S.A. 12.7%, Canada 14.5%, England 17.3%, Japan 21.5%, Soviet Union 33.7%, Mexico 40%, and China 60%. Not only do we have the most efficient farmers in the world and the largest selection of food items to choose from in the world, but also the cheapest food in the world. Your food dollar is also going farther today than ever before. In 1980 the typical American spent 16.6% of their disposible income on food, in 1975, 17%, and in 1951, 23%, so our food is cheaper today, comparatively speaking, than ever before.

Since 1977, only in 1978, 1986, and 1987 did the food consumer price index rise more than the general consumer price index. In 1986 and 1987 the difference in percentage of change was less than 1 percent. In 1978 the food consumer price index rose only about 2% more than the general consumer price index.

So, as the bumper sticker says, "Don't complain about farmers with your mouth full". America has always had a cheap food policy and many times at the expense of farmers net incomes. So if food prices do rise the one to three percent as expected this year remember the processing industry gets the vast majority of your food dollar, and if some of the increase does filter down home to the farm remember he worked hard for that money and he deserves it.

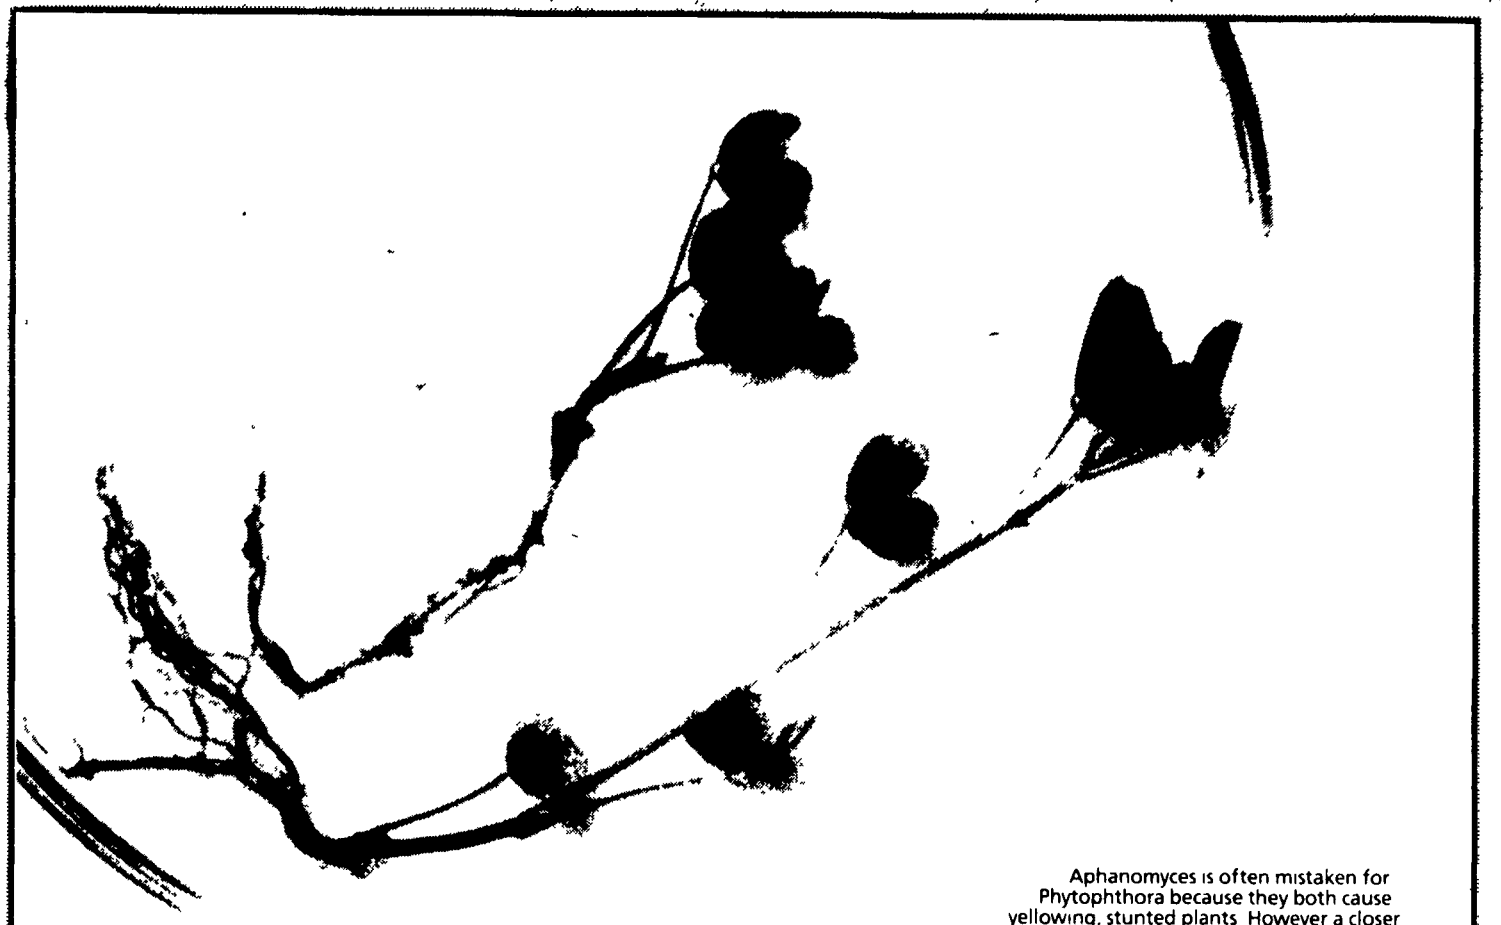
LOOK WHAT THE NEW NK HAS FOR NORTHEASTERN DAIRYMEN



Aphanomyces is often mistaken for Phytophthora because they both cause yellowing, stunted plants However a closer look may reveal a reddish pink color on the lower leaves of a plant infected with Aphanomyces New Fortress alfalfa is the only variety with resistance to Aphanomyces

THE NEW NORTHRUP KING HAS DEVELOPED AN ALFALFA UNLIKE ANY OTHER.

Introducing Fortress... with more resistance to more major pests, including Aphanomyces, than any other alfalfa you can buy.

Aphanomyces is found in wet soils. But you can protect yourself with Fortress...the only alfalfa that resists Aphanomyces.

New Fortress is a high-yielding, fast-recovering variety that gives you solid performance year after year with the most protection available.

Only Fortress offers resistance to all of these major alfalfa pests:

Aphanomyces	Anthracnose (race 1)
Bacterial wilt	Fusarium wilt
Phytophthora root rot	Verticillium wilt
Pea aphid	Stem nematode
	Spotted alfalfa aphid

If you've experienced problems from any of these pests, we recommend you talk to your New Northrup King dealer about Fortress.

No variety of alfalfa available anywhere has resistance to as many pests as new Fortress. And that's just one reason why The New Northrup King sells more alfalfa than anyone else.

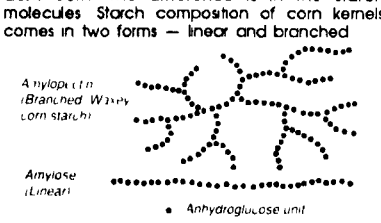
WAXEY CORN HYBRIDS

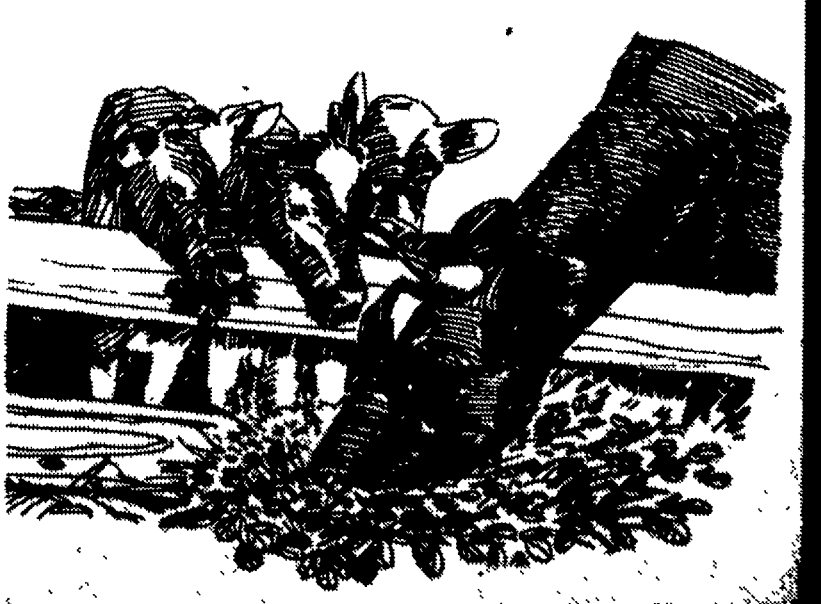
Our full line of waxey hybrids demonstrates our commitment to an ever increasing number of waxey corn growers They know the advantages of waxey hybrids from The New Northrup King

Waxey corns look no different from normal dent corn The difference is in the starch molecules Starch composition of corn kernels comes in two forms — linear and branched



The endosperm starch of waxey corn is 100% amylopectin (branched chain) Normal dent corn is 25% amylose (straight chain) and 75% amylopectin During digestion, end-to-end starch chains break down more slowly than branched chains

Dairymen report waxey grain improves milk production and butterfat content Livestock feeders report improved rate of gain and more economical feed conversion with waxey grain



Accident Rate High On Pennsylvania Farms

UNIVERSITY PARK — Last year, approximately 8,000 Pennsylvanians were victims of farm accidents that required professional medical attention or resulted in a loss of more than four hours of work, according to Dr. Dennis Murphy, Penn State associate professor of agricultural engineering.

"The 8,000 accidents resulted in 45 deaths and left a few hundred people with permanent disabilities," says Murphy. his findings are part of a survey done earlier this year, released in conjunction with Pennsylvania Farm Safety Week, Sept. 18-24. The week coincides with National Farm Safety Week.

The National Safety Council estimates that agricultural accidents resulted in more than 1,600 deaths and 160,000 disabling injuries in 1987. The theme for this year's recognition is "Ensure Your Future With Farm Safety."

Governor Robert Casey signed an official proclamation noting the importance of agriculture to Pennsylvania as the state's leading industry. In signing the proclamation Governor Casey stressed the importance of safety and the need to recognize the inherit dangers of working long hours with potentially lethal chemicals as well as sophisticated and powerful machinery. Casey said that farming is one of the most dangerous occupations and there is a need to recognize the importance of being more safety conscious.

"Unlike other industries, there are no safety officers on the farm," says Murphy. "There are no trained people on the farm with the sole responsibility of safety. Safety consciousness is a habit that must be developed and instilled." He stresses that the impact of personal injury and suffering is ipossible to measure, however, the loss in income and efficiency adds up to millions of dollars annually.

The survey indicated that more than 50 percent of the accidents in Pennsylvania result in loss of more than a week of work and 14 percent of the victims were unable to work for more than 20 days.

In many farm operations a small margin of profit can mean the survival of the business. Murphy stresses that safety awareness also makes good business sense. "Our primary reason for safety programs is to minimize personal suffering, but we must not overlook the importance of safety consciousness as a good business practice," he adds. "Our dreams and our aspirations for the future depend on our ability to function normally. A bad accident can mean an end to those dreams."

To promote more awareness of the need for safety awareness, Murphy and the Pennsylvania Agricultural Safety Council are promotion a program with Pennsylvania Future Farmers of America clubs in Pennsylvania. The program is called "Adopt a Farm."

When a club adopts a farm, the members visit the operation regularly and make suggestions to create a safer working environment. These suggestions include such things as replacing broken stairs, rfemoving dangerous debris and replacing burned out light bulbs. The FFA members also discuss pesticide safety, use of protective equipment, safe machinery operation and other safety related practices.

The purpose of Pennsylvania Farm Safety Week is to call attention to the health and safety hazards of farming and promote understanding and practical ways to minimize the dangers. The Farm Safety Week activities are sponsored by the Pennsylvania Agricultural Safety Council and the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture in cooperation with the National Safety Council, and Penn State Cooperative Extension.

YOU'RE INVITED...

We would also like to give each of you a special invitation for Thursday, October 13th, for a special seminar on oil. Karl Kline from Viscosity Oil will be here with many informative facts and figures. Karl is a fantastic speaker, you will have a great evening.

Also we will be serving Bar-B-Que from 6:00 pm to 7:30 pm.

All who attend the meeting will be eligible for the drawing of a 55 gal. drum of Case IH oil of your choice.

TORQUE AMPLIFIERS & CLUTCHES

Over the past 8 years, we have sold thousands of T.A.'s to satisfied customers across the U.S. Some of our best customers are I.H. Dealers.

We do complete job or center housing while you wait or will sell you the parts.

Our prices on T.A.'s with the Dana Sprag, are now $645.00 with a 2 year warranty.

We also have units and parts available to rebuild old style T.A.'s, including Ramp & carrier sets for $300.00

Clutches, Pressure Plates PTO Drives & Water Pumps

We have clutches available for most all IH tractors; including many heavier than original. We also have clutches for many other brands.

- Compare Our Prices -

All clutches & T.A.'s will ship U.P.S. and are sold on an exchange basis. Core charges Apply.

Our Trunnion Bearing is designed to mount on our C-Flex™ spring cushioned bearing standard and is allowed to self-align as the gang flexes. Part of the secret to the Trunnion Bearings' longevity is 2-triple lip seals and meatl seal washers that prevent dirt from contaminating the inner workings of the regreasable bearing. Excellent seal protection, of course, reduces wear and helps eliminate premature bearing failure.

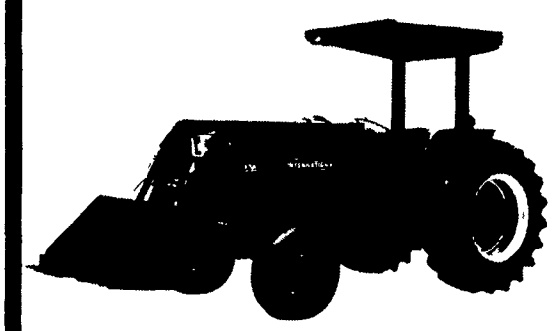
IF YOU WANT LOADER ECONOMY TRY A CASE IH MODEL 2200

Several In Stock At Reasonable Prices!



A lot of loader doesn't have to mean a lot of costs.

Your smaller Case International tractor can do a lot more work when you match it with the 2200 Economy Loader. The 2200 is not only a perfect fit for these tractors...it's also capacity-matched so the pair will work together as a precision team. They offer a great way to do tough chores in tight confined areas.

The 2200 mounts quickly and easily. The subframe bolts to the clutch housing and to the front bolster. The loader is detached from the tractor at the boom pivot pin.

When mounted, the subframe becomes an integral part of the tractor. You can depend on the box-beam construction to last long. And operator visibility is not hampered, thanks to the low-profile loader towers.

The 2200 provides a break-away force of 2,550 lbs (1158 kg) and a lift capacity of 1,700 lbs. (772 kg). You control the loader operation conveniently with a single lever.

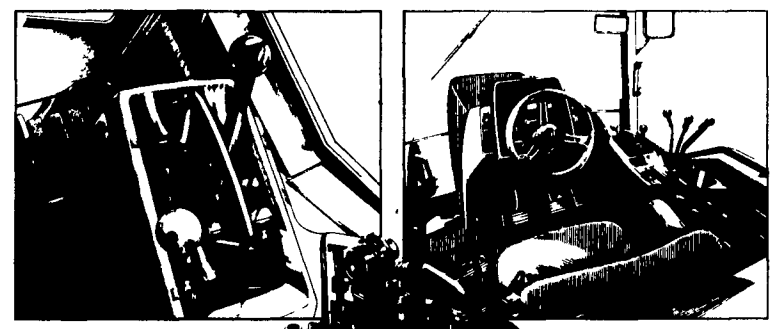
MAGNUM MEANS MORE.



Compare the all-new Case IH MAGNUM tractors with the current Deere line New 505 cubic inch engines in the MAGNUM tractors offer over 8% more displacement than Deere s 466 MAGNUM tractor engines are all-new and give you the cost-efficient power modern farming demands

You get 20% more working speeds — 18 in-line no-clutch full powershift speeds with the new MAGNUM tractors against only 15 with the Deere powershift And the 18-speed transmission is standard on all MAGNUM tractors while Deere s 15 speed is optional on all but the 4850

See 17% more Feel 100% better Compare a MAGNUM tractor s 48 square feet of tinted glass to Deere s 41 Compare the Case IH floor-to-ceiling front glass one-piece side picture window wide rear window, and the unique sloping (and uncluttered) hood for optimum visibility

Ask us about these four new Case IH tractors 130 to 195 PTO hp MAGNUM tractors tractors that will do more for you

It Takes A Tractor This Good To Earn A Warranty This Good

The MAGNUM 5-Year/5,000-Hour Warranty

MAGNUM means more! But there s much more to a MAGNUM tractor than meets your eye Because behind the more powerful engines the more efficient transmissions and the high-visibility cabs

Stands the best warranty in the business The MAGNUM tractor 5-year/5 000-hour warranty, whichever occurs first * A warranty that gives you coverage, from top to bottom, front to back It s the best warranty in the business By far

The way MAGNUM tractors are built there s a good chance you ll never need to take advantage of this advantage

Come on in and look over the all-new MAGNUM tractors And ask us for details on the best warranty and the best tractors in the business

Excluding tires which are covered by their own manufacturers warranties A $200 deductible applies to each repair after the first year

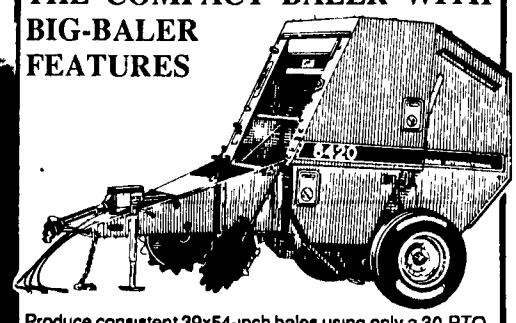
Case International 8420 Round Baler

THE COMPACT BALER WITH BIG-BALER FEATURES



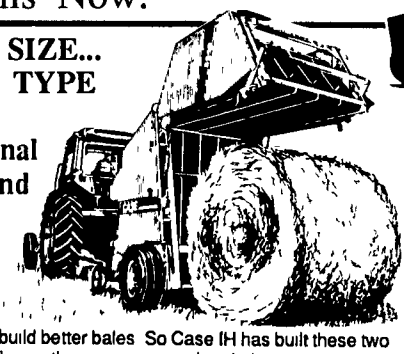
Produce consistent 39x54-inch bales using only a 30-PTO-horsepower tractor. Yet reap the advantage of direct feed, open-throat chamber design so bales build fast, sure and tight. Other big-baler features:

- Aggressive starter roll so each bale starts right
- Audible signal when bales are done and ready for wrapping
- Cam-actuated low-profile pickup, close tine spacing for clean sweeping of heavy windrows
- Optional hydraulic twine wrapping system

A heavyweight producer in a lightweight package.

YOUR SIZE... YOUR TYPE

Case International 3640 Round Balers



Better balers build better bales So Case IH has built these two top-quality balers in the sizes you need, with the improvements you want Pick your size

- 3640 - 6-foot diameter bales, 4 foot wide

With these great features

- Wide, low-profile pickup sweeps in broad, windblown or straying windrows
- Wide, seamless forming belts resist twisting and live up to 40 times longer than spliced belts
- Fixed bale chamber builds bales that are breathable inside, dense and weatherproof outside
- Never back up to dump a bale, raise the tailgate, the bale rolls out and away

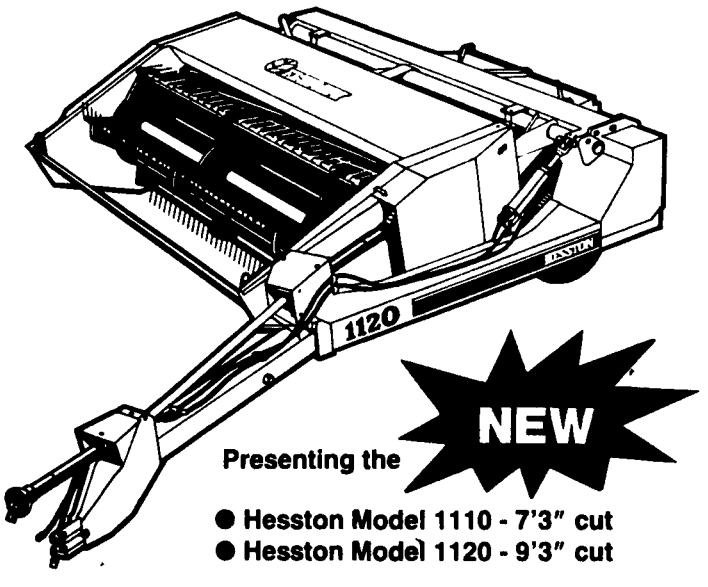
HESSTON THE PRIME LINE

Have It Your Way – Versatility With Economy!



Presenting the
- Hesston Model 1110 - 7'3" cut
- Hesston Model 1120 - 9'3" cut

These new Hesston pull-type mower-conditioners are designed to cut fast, dry hay quickly and save the leaves.

The reliable halfswaybar sickle drive (1700 spm) cuts the crop quickly and the standard 4 bat reel (5 or 6 bats optional) delivers the crop directly to the full width, engaging conditioner rolls. Swath shield can be changed easily by moving one lever, and forming shields are adjustable for any size of windrow.

See all of the value-packed features of these outstanding Hesston-built machines at your dealer today!

"Consider The Concrete Advantages"

You still have time to get your Sollenberger Silo for high moisture corn storage this fall. The summer of 1988 will be remembered for the many hot, dry days. These high temperatures damaged a lot of stored corn in structures that have a thin wall and do not reflect heat. Avoid this heat damage with a poured concrete silo from Sollenberger Silos Crop.
* The Laidig 43 bottom unloader handles high moisture ear corn and shelled corn.
* The Laidig 98 or 198 will do a good job with grains or forage at 50% moisture. BY FILLING EARLIER YOU CAN SAVE YOUR VALUABLE LEAVES.

You Will Appreciate The Quality Of A Sollenberger Silo For Many Years To Come.

FEATURED DEALER OF THE WEEK
Dairymen Specialty Co.
Harrisonburg, VA
Call Elam Steiner or Greg Snow
at 703-433-9117

FACT: Our poured concrete wall has 780 times more heat-resisting ability than steel. Heat damage occurs when stored feed is heated above 95° F. Our silo protects your feed quality.

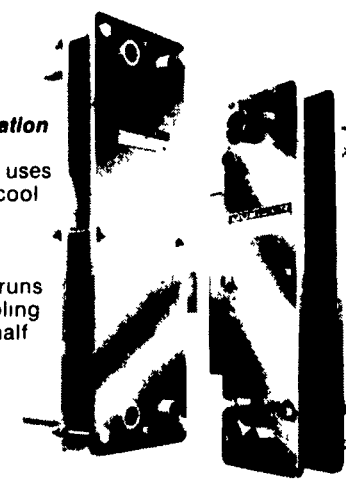
The Mueller Accu-Therm™ Precooler Cuts Cooling Costs Up To One-half and Puts More Profits in Your Pocket!

Makes your operation more profitable!
The Accu-Therm uses well water to precool your milk before entering the milk cooler, therefore, your milk cooler runs less and cuts cooling costs up to one-half of their previous costs



Minimal Installation Effort and Time!
The Accu-Therm fits into any operation regardless of the space requirements and makes operation expansion easy by simply adding plates without added space requirements

Low Maintenance!
The Accu-Therm cleans in place and does not add to the cleaning work load of the milking operation

Blue Chip Classic Offers Champions

BY PAT PURCELL

FAYETTE — The Blue Chip Classic is an opportunity to take home a champion beef. The classic offers grand champions from all across the state of Pennsylvania and from neighboring states. This club calf sale to be held Friday, October 14, 7 p.m. at the Fayette County Fairgrounds will offer 45 steer calves most of which are sired by Sugar Ray, Power Play and Ildeno. Also, included in the sale will be several ET calves which are halter broke, fitted and started on feed.

The Blue Chip Classic was originally organized as a means to market better steer calves and to supply a local need for high quality club calves. The first Blue Chip Classic was held in October, 1985 and the fourth sale is set for October 14, 1988.

In the first three sales Blue Chip Classic sold a total of 105 steer calves. Of these calves 21 were grand champions and 14 were reserve grand champions. In other words one out of every three calves sold has been a champion. Aside from this, there were numerous division winners.

Champions included in this year's sale are the grand champions of the Fayette County Fair, the Northwest Keystone Classic, Bedford County Fair, Washington County Fair and many, many more.

Work and Witt bring calves in from several other states including West Virginia, Kentucky, Ohio and South Dakota to continue the quality of steers. The sale attracts buyers from Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Maryand and Ohio and New York.

Bedford County Fair reserve grand champion. Exhibitor is Ty Jay.

Westmoreland County Fair grand champion to be sold at the Blue Chip Classic.

Fayette County Fair 1988 reserve champion will be sold at the Blue Chip Classic.

This is the second sale organized by Don Witt and Bill Work. Witt is a sale representative for Vigortone Ag Products and raises cattle and breeds purebred Hampshire sheep. Work has a diversified farming operation raising cattle, corn, alfalfa and purebred Yorkshire hogs in Smock, Pa.

We hold the sale at the Fayette County Fairgrounds. This years sale will be on October 14, 1988 at 7 p.m. The fairgrounds is located four miles south of Connellsville, Pa., six miles north of Uniontown, Pa.

Westmoreland County 4-H'ers Enjoy Record Market Prices

GREENSBURG (Westmoreland) — Westmoreland County junior livestock exhibitors enjoyed a record-setting sale with 169 lots of steers, hogs, lambs and market goats selling for a total of $72,031.05. Several animals were returned for sale with the proceeds of $1,805.20 to benefit the 4-H Development Fund.

The top-selling champion was the grand champion lamb exhibited by Rachel Obrowski of Latrobe. Rachel's 108-pound Hampshire lamb was purchased by Butler Refrigerated - Giant Eagle Markets Incorporated for a record setting $20 per pound. The reserve champion lamb, a Dorset cross was exhibited by Lila Hughes of Derry and sold for $13.50 a pound to Mountain View Inn of Greensburg. Both champions were returned for resale with the proceeds to benefit the 4-H Development Fund.

Giant Eagle Markets, Inc. continued their buying spree by purchasing the grand champion market hog at $6.50 per pound. The Duroc cross weighed 245 pounds and was exhibited by David Smouse of Scottdale. Giant Eagle Markets also returned the champion hog for resale to benefit the 4-H Fund. The reserve champion hog enjoyed spirited bidding as the Sheraton Inn of Greensburg paid $5.10 per pound for the Duroc cross shown by eight-year-old, first-year 4-H'er Karen Reed.

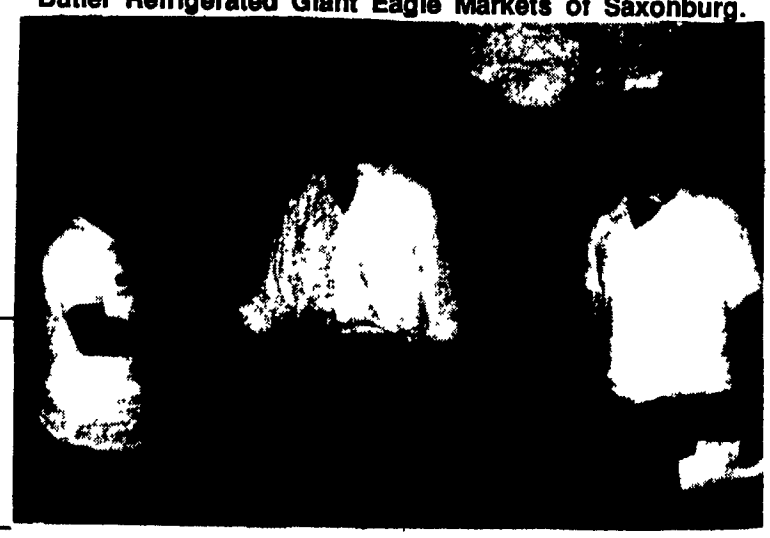
Shop N' Save Supermarket of Greensburg, paid a record $5.50 a pound for the grand champion steer exhibited by Heath Lilley of Donegal. Heath's Chianina crossbred weighed 1,205 pounds. Heath had the distinction of also showing the reserve grand champion steer, a Simmental cross that weighed 1,170 pounds and sold to Hoss's Steak and Seafood House in Greensburg for a. reserve champion record of $3.50 per pound.

Cindy Hull of Ruffsdale showed two Nubian goats to championships in the market goat division of the show and sale. Cindy's 56-pound champion was purchased for $5.75 a pound by Smouse's Truck Sales of Scottdale. The reserve champion weighed 68 pounds and was purchased by Mountain View Inn at $3.50 per pound. Both champions

(Turn to Page D4)

Dane Fine, right, from Butler Refrigerated Giant Eagle Markets purchased the grand champion hog from David Smouse for $6.50 per pound.

Four-H'er Rachel Obrowski sold her grand champion market lamb for $2,160, or $20 per pound, to Dane Fine of Butler Refrigerated Giant Eagle Markets of Saxonburg.



A handshake seals the purchase of the grand champion steer at the Westmoreland County 4-H livestock sale. Heath Lilley, left, sold his 1,205-pound champion to Ray Charley, middle, of Westmoreland Mall and Greg Overdorff of Shop N' Save Markets for $5.50 per pound.

were returned for resale to benefit the 4-H Development Fund.

The champion lamb carcass, a 48-pound Dorset cross carcass, exhibited by Lila Hughes sold at $4.75 a pound to Mountain View Inn of Greensburg. The reserve champion carcass, a Suffolk cross, was exhibited by Abram Hayes of Mt. Pleasant and sold to Jim Brodak's County Market of Mt. Pleasant for $2.40 a pound.

The sale enjoyed excellent prices for the other consignments. Without the grand and reserve grand champions per pound prices were as follows: 33 steers 91 cents, 75 hogs 92 cents, 43 lambs $1.49, and 10 market goats 52 cents.

Poultry producers may have considered grinding and mixing their own feeds at one time or another. Some of the advantages to on the farm mixing are:

1. You can use your own grain or buy grains that are of the very best quality.

2. You can purchase feed ingredients in bulk, which usually saves money.

3. You can use your microcomputer to formulate your own special formulas and can change formulas when the time and conditions are correct.

4. You always have fresh feed that is no more than two days old for your birds.

5. It is convenient to have compiete control - including formulation and freshness, and be able to prepare feeds when they are needed.

Home computers are now relatively inexpensive and have the capacity to linear program poultry feeds. This, along with the greater availability of software that can compute complex feed formulas, make home mixing even more attractive.

Where most home mix operations fail is they do not consider all of the costs and labor that go into a good operation. Let's take a look at some of these:

1. In addition to your initial costs for the mixer, hammer mill, transportation augers, storage bins, etc., plan expansion for at least seven to ten years. Will your home mix operation handle a double, triple or more of your poultry facilities?

2. Inadequate storage facilities. In order to take advantage of feed ingredient prices you need to buy the main ingredients in large quantities, namely corn and soybean meal. Also, at certain times during the year you can get good buys on wheat, oats and barley but you need the storage space at that time.

3. Testing of feed ingredients, mixed feeds and maintaining quality control. This is very time consuming and can be very costly. First of all you have to buy good quality ingredients. Your computer will only put in good quality ingredients, therefore you have to buy them. Weight and moisture testing may not be enough. Is the grain moldy? Is the protein level in the grain the same as what is in the computer? You will have to do these other types of laboratory testing.

Make sure your feed mill is adequately mixing the feed. Vertical feed mixers will have an ideal blending time. Feeds can be undermixed or overmixed. A separation of feed ingredients will result in both cases. You have to analyze the feed to establish the ideal blending time. The continuous flow or proportioner type feed mixers are very popular. However, you still need to feed test to make sure you are getting the proper feed.

Regardless, feed and feed ingredient testing is expensive, and it must be figured into all home mix operations. If not, production problems soon will occur. This is where most home mix operations will fail.

Home mixing feeds is time consuming and care must be taken to do the job right. Commercial feeds may cost a little more but the quality control and testing is built into the price. Therefore, make sure you factor in all of the costs before considering mixing feed on the farm.

Hometown Girl Shows Manheim Fair's Champion Hog

BY LISA RISSER

MANHEIM (Lancaster) — Of all the hogs that Pam Myer showed at the Manheim Farm Show swine competition, it was the one she didn't name that was chosen as the grand champion.

The daughter of Marcella and Marlin Myer of Manheim, Myer's 254-pound crossbred barrow was the first granad champion that she has shown in her two years of exhibiting hogs. Sixteen-year-old Myer showed three other hogs at the show, which was judged by Duff George, territorial manager for Purina Mills.

Pam Myer of Manheim exhibited the grand champion hog at the Manheim Farm Show's swine show. Offering his congratulations is Duffy George, judge for the competition.

Another Manheim girl, Karen Becker, also went home a winner. Becker owned the reserve grand champion, which is a 236-pound gilt. According to Becker, her hog's championship form was a result of the exercise they get in the rocky orchard where they are kept.

Becker, the 14-year-old daughter of Nancy and Marlin Becker, has been showing swine at 4-H shows for six years now. The last champion that Becker had was the grand champion market hog at the 1987 Pennsylvania Farm Show.

Deere Presents New Rotary Cutter

MOLINE, IL. — John Deere's new 516 and 616 rotary cutters have several features to increase reliability and durability, such as unibody construction, stronger gearcases, and a triangular-section driveline.

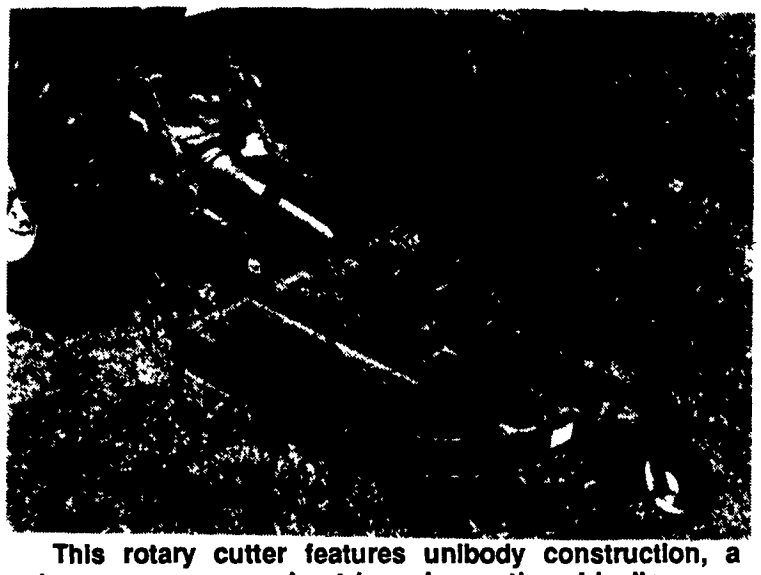
The unibody design, a carryover from the earlier 506 and 606 rotary cutters, features high-strength steel in the stringers, gearcase support, saddle, and wear shoes for increased frame durability. The frame has been placed on top, allowing the bottom to remain clear for maximum cutting.

Gearcase capacity has been increased from 60 to 65 hp. The diameter of the gears, shafts, and bearings has been increased for better durability. A steel shield on the output shaft protects the seal from damage caused by wrapping. The wear on the driveline is reduced by up to 20 percent through the use of a new triangular-section driveline, which replaces the square driveline of previous models.

Cutting performance has been improved. Blade tip speed has been increased from 135 mph to 142 mph on the 516 model and from 160 mph to 168 mph on the 616 model. An optional bolt-on pan attachment helps the cutter go over obstructions and reduce scalping.

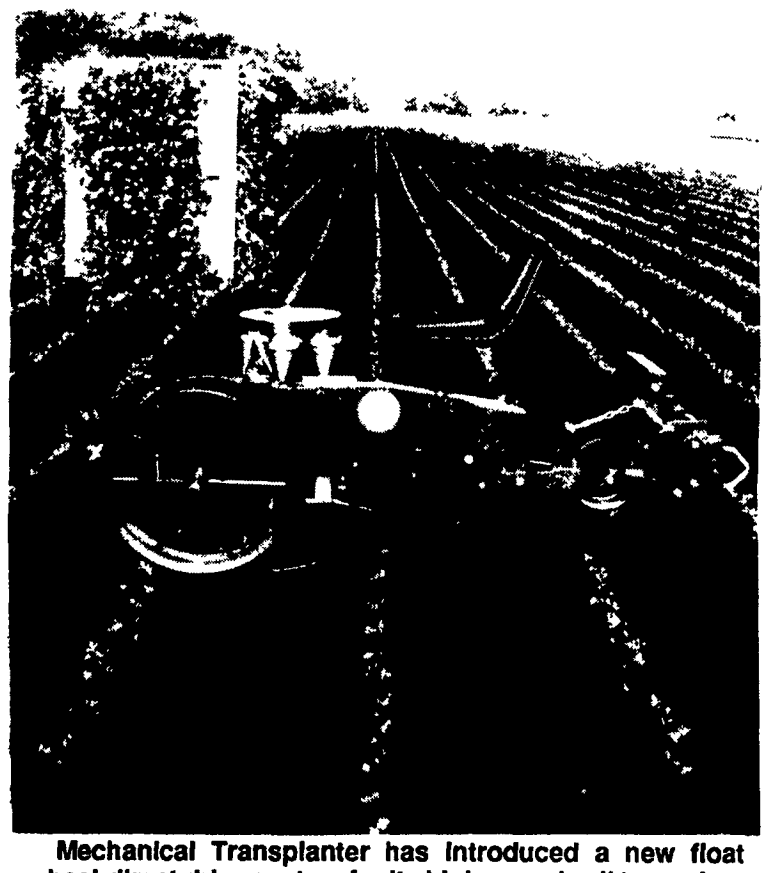
A 16-inch solid rubber tailwheel, replacing a 12-inch tailwheel, allows a smoother cut over rough ground. The tailwheel has seven positions to adjust the cutting height from 1½ to 9 inches.

Safety features include an enclosed rear cutting chamber, front safety chain shielding, shielded driveline, and rear reflectors for improved visibility in nighttime conditions.



This rotary cutter features unibody construction, a strong gearcase, and a triangular-section driveline.

Cell Transplanter Has Float Wheel-Direct Drive System



Mechanical Transplanter has introduced a new float wheel-direct drive system for its high-speed cell transplanters, models 4000 and 6000. The advantages of this system include positive drive with accurate spacings as close as 5½ inches between plants. The new drive system allows for perfect depth control and uniform planting by preparing the soil ahead of each unit.

Kidd Introduces Bale Chopper With Gantry, Blower

CARLISLE (Cumberland) — Latest development of Kidd Farm Machinery's highly successful Big Bale Chopper is the introduction of the "Kobra" - a Big Bale Chopper complete with blower tube attached to a gantry, giving a discharge height of approximately 9 feet 9 inches.

This new facility enables the operator, without leaving his seat, total directional freedom in spreading material for landscaping, mulching, reaching restricted areas and filling mixer feeder wagons.

Available through Cumming and Bricker Inc. of Batavia, N.Y., and Carlisle, Pa., the Kidd "Kobra" is an ingenious extension to the Company's range of bale chopping and spreading equipment.

In order for the "Kobra" to be attached, this latest version is fitted with a special airbox and clamp. As an alternative, a 7-inch diameter, flexible-plastic tube can be directly fitted to the right-hand port where no gantry is required. An effective throw of 25-feet is achieved for chopped straw thanks to the increased speed of the chopper/blower rotor on this version of the machine.

The Big Bale Chopper 6-10, for which the "Kobra" has been developed, is purpose-built for large round hay and straw bales up to 6-foot diameter or up to 10 standard bales. It makes more efficient use of valuable baled material; choice of discharge pattern and chop length enables the operator to place the material exactly where he wants it and in the chopped condition that he requires. The discharge position of the gantry can be lowered for landscaping purposes etc., enabling one-man operation.

Once the bale has been dropped into the tub the material is chopped against a patented flywheel arrangement as the tub rotates. The shredding knives, which can easily be set for fine or coarse chop, are replaceable and easily sharpened. Bale grippers on the tub wall are automatically adjustable to suit bale dimensions; shredder corotates with drum giving exceptionally low power requirement.

When the blower tube is detached the expeller chutes provide discharge to either side or both sides at once. Deflector flaps may be adjusted to suit throw to individual requirements and building layout.

Chopping and shredding hay for animal feed means less waste, better digestion and increased growth rates too. The Kidd Bale Chopper can be used to chop hay to a variety of lengths. With or without the blower tube, the uses of the Big Bale Chopper are numerous and include spreading straw around strawberry and blueberry plants as well as apple trees; providing bedding within poultry houses; producing well-chopped straw to arrest soil erosion in landscaping applications.

Enabling the operator to fill mixer feeder wagons without leaving his seat, this bale chopper comes with a blower tube attached to a gantry, giving a discharge height of 9 feet 9 inches.

Agpro Presents Manure Solids Separator

PARIS, TX. — One key factor to success in the agricultural industry is to get the highest possible return out of every investment you make. The new Mark II Manure Solids Separator by Agpro is one investment that will guarantee you a continued return plus aid your facility in complying with the current E.P.A. regulations.

One feature that makes the Mark II Separator such a wise investment is that there are no moving parts to the separator so it is relatively maintenance free.

Another feature of the separator is the longevity that it adds to your present lagoon or the size of lagoon that you may be required to construct. The solids that are removed from the liquids which return into the lagoon, can be used as bedding, feed supplement, and feritlizer. The liquid can then be reused for flush cleaning or spraying fields. This feature alone eliminates the manure problem plus assists you in the compliance with E.P.A. regulations.

The Mark II Separator comes in two sizes. The APBS-3650 and APBS-7250 with stainless-steel, wedge-wire screens that come in various spacings to accommodate the operation with the separating capacity of 300-500 gpm.

The Mark II Separator is constructed of durable, mild steel or all stainless steel to give you a lasting investment with continual return.

For more information on the Mark II Separator or other Agpro products, call or write Agpro, Inc., Route 7, Box 100, Paris, Texas 75460. Inside Texas 800/442-1394. Outside Texas 800/527-1030.

Reduce Field, Harvest Losses Through Preparation

DEKALB, IL — Current commodity prices and crop conditions favor an early harvest season. With drought induced lower yields, you'll want to keep field and harvest losses to a minimum. An agronomist offers the following suggestions on minimizing losses.

"Growers should closely monitor each of their corn fields and develop a harvest schedule," said Jay Stidham, Dekalb-Pfizer Genetics agronomist. "Ear retention, standability and kernel moisture should be checked closely and frequently."

"Harvest equipment should be ready to go two to three weeks earlier than normal," advised Stidham. "To minimize harvest losses in the field, corn should be harvested in the 24 to 28 percent moisture level. At higher moisture levels, losses are greater because ears are not snapped off the plants as easily, grain is not shelled-off the ear as readily and kernel damage is higher. At lower moisture levels, broken cobs, ear droppage, lodging and shelling loss at the snapping rolls is greater."

According to the Dekalb-Pfizer agronomist, the cost of grain drying should be compared to yield loss estimates when deciding whether to let the crop dry in the field or to harvest early. "Past experience shows that stressed crops lead to greater field losses, but by developing a harvest schedule which begins early and schedules those fields under greatest pressure first, harvest losses can be minimized," concluded Stidham.

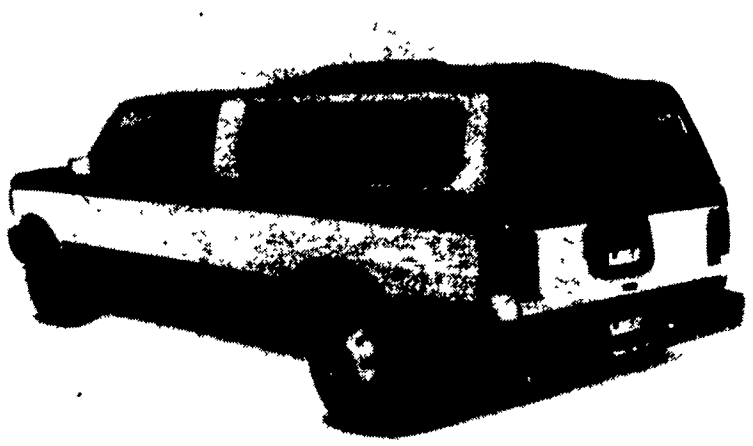
Leer Crown Offers New Truck Cap

ELKHART, IN. — Leer's Crown 150 truck cap has radius single-bay windows and unique graphics for good looks while it protects your truck bed. Add optional black satin sport rails, and you've completed a truly exciting new look for your pickup.

All Crown series caps are made of rugged, easy-care fiberglass that won't crack or fade and is custom-matched to a variety of popular automotive paint styles. A choice of two-tone models also is available. And, like all Leer truck caps, Crown 150 models are backed by the company's exclusive True Lifetime Warranty.

Included on the option list are the pinstriping and a skylight window for extra style, a window boot that protects the cab window from the elements and reduces noise and a Tri-lite to help avoid rear-end collisions.

Leer is the nation's leading producer of fiberglass and aluminum truck caps for all pickups, with 800 dealers coast to coast. For more information on Crown 150 models, write to: Leer, Inc., Dept. LR21, 28858 Ventura Drive, Elkhart, IN 46517, or call 800/321-LEER.



This truck cap has radius, single-bay windows and is made of rugged, easy-care fiberglass.

Pioneer Promotes Agronomist To Manager

MT. JOY (Lancaster) — A field sales agronomist has assumed the position of field agronomy services manager in the northeast for Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc.

Ed Lazowski, formerly a field agronomist for Pioneer, recently filled the position that was formerly held by Bill Fleet, now Pioneer field sales manager.

As agronomy field sales manager, Lazowski will direct the activities of two other agronomists and will provide agronomic information to Pioneer customers in three sales districts that cover New Jersey, Maryland and Delaware.

"We've built a reputation for having personnel with expertise in agronomy to assist farmers who use Pioneer products," Weidman said. "Ed and other agronomists will continue that work and continue to improve out service to growers in the Northeast."

Lazowski is a graduate of Delaware Valley College in Doylestown, Pa. He earned a master's degree in agronomy from the Pennsylvania State University in 1986.

He and his wife Jennifer plan to relocate to the Mt. Joy area.

IT'S MORE THAN ONE TRACTOR.

Here's one tractor that does more work than a half dozen tractors combined. Put it to work on any kind of farm chore. Plowing. Cultivating. Loading. Mowing. Backhoeing. Hauling. And, like we said, more.

The L3350 has a strong 4-cylinder diesel engine, rated at 32 PTO horsepower. It also has direct injection for good fuel economy and quick starts. Longer intervals between oil changes, too.

A couple of other features make this Kubota tractor a real workhorse. An 8 x 8 partially synchronized transmission for easy shifting. Position and draft control for more accurate implement placement.

So come in and take a look at the Kubota L3350. You'll think you're seeing double.

1988 Crop Insurance Program Announced

WASHINGTON, D.C. — As farmers throughout drought-stricken areas of the country wait to find out just how they will benefit from the richest disaster aid bill ever approved by Congress, their uncertainty over the future continues. USDA has yet to issue the regulations for disaster aid, leaving most farmers to only speculate how they will benefit.

However, almost 400,000 producers who bought multiple peril crop insurance have known since last spring just how much coverage they have and are now able to determine what they're going to get if they suffered crop losses this summer. Furthermore they'll be able to benefit from sales of whatever amount of the crop they're able to harvest and at drought-driven prices well above average. Farmers who purchased crop insurance and suffered low crop yields will get disaster aid in addition to their crop-insurance payments, subject to a maximum of the target price times the ASCS program yield for program crops (subject to maximum payment limitations on disaster payments only).

Those who made the risk-management decision in favor of crop insurance will have a significant financial advantage over those "who placed their trust only in the government for disaster aid," according to E. Eugene Gantz, executive vice president of the American Association of Crop Insurers. "There are many situations where the total income of the users of crop insurance will be about double those who did not buy crop insurance protection," says Gantz.

Additionally, the disaster relief legislation passed last month by Congress includes certain criteria requiring farmers who receive disaster benefits to purchase crop insurance for 1989 production. They likely will be required to show proof of crop-insurance coverage before they can pick up their disaster assistance checks.

"That's because producers can sign up their spring crops at the same time they purchase coverage for their fall crops, Gantz said. USDA has announced crop-insurance program details for almost all 1989 crops, meaning "that for the first time since the program began in 1981, farmers have information far enough in advance to make a proper decision on their coverage," he adds.

"This is a far cry from previous years when agents faced the problem of not having the rates and rules until a few days before the sign-up deadline," Gantz explained. That proved frustrating both for farmers and agents trying to finalize policies. "They didn't have adequate time to work through the process of developing individualized coverages and rates for each farmer," he said.

Producers who buy crop insurance have another advantage over those who don't, Gantz pointed out. "They can provide their lenders with the assurance of repayment even if disaster strikes again in 1989.

That's especially important because of the reduced government farm program payments from the expected reductions in USDA's acreage reduction program (ARP)." And Gantz foresees a strong sign-up for 1989. "I would not be surprised to see insured acreage increase 30-50 percent over the record set in 1988."

Crop insurance agents have all the details necessary to provide farmers with risk management plans to protect most crops. The details on specialty crops and some other crops will be available soon.

National Poultry Meeting Set For October

OCEAN CITY, MD — The 23rd National Meeting on Poultry Health and Condemnations will be held Thursday and Friday, October 20 and 21, 1988 at the Sheraton Ocean City. This annual event is sponsored by the Delmarva Poultry Industry, Inc., the 4,000-member trade association that works for the continued advancement of the Delmarva poultry industry, in cooperation with the Universities of Maryland and Delaware.

The meeting will be divided into two segments, one dealing with poultry growout and health topics and the other with poultry processing matters. There will be 43 speakers from 11 states, the District of Columbia, Canada and the United Kingdom. The grow-out and health topics will include presentations on coccidiosis, mycotoxins and their impact on the poultry industry, chick quality, broiler leg problems, chicken anemia agent, infectious bursal disease, respiratory virus vaccines, animal welfare, and several presentations on laryngotracheitis. The processing session will cover water use in poultry plants, poultry grading, plant staffing levels, microbiological inspections, plant modifications, USDA inspection criteria, and feed and water withdrawal.

A joint session will be highlighted by a talk by Dr. Mahlon A. Burnette, III, president of the Arnon Food Service Group, Great Falls, Virginia. His topic will be "Images and Opportunities in the Poultry Food Industry."

The National Meeting on Poultry Health and Condemnations, started in 1965, has grown from a small local meeting to an internationally recognized meeting that is considered one of the best in the world. More than 650 participants from America and other nations are expected to attend. The chairman is Dr. Edwin M. Odor, chairman of DPI's Poultry Health Committee and a poultry pathologist/ senior scientist at the University of Delaware Research and Education Center near Georgetown, Del.

Anyone interested in obtaining registration forms, programs and other conference information can do so by writing to or calling Delmarva Poultry Industry, Inc., RD 2, Box 47, Georgetown, DE 19947, 302/856-9037.

Multiple Wins For Lampeter Contestants

BY LOU ANN GOOD

LAMPETER — For 17-year-old Anita Meck, Lampeter Fair competition on September 28 ushered in multiple wins. She swept grand championships in both 4-H and FFA baby beef competition, which enabled her to take best of the show with her steer, Marcus. Plus, Anita was named second runner-up in the Lampeter Fair Queen contest. "It's been great," Anita said of her honors.

Judge Brenda Walters, York herdsman for GH2 Angus Farms, said that she liked the style Meck's 1,240 pound Angus Charolais displayed. "He has eye appeal and thickness," she explained. Fred Weaver showed Meck's steers while she vied for the fair crown with nine other contestants.

Meck who has been showing for eight years, commented that this was her best year since generally she is down the line when it comes to standings. She is the daughter of Kenneth and Esther Meck, Willow Street.

Another contestant, county dairy princess Julie Greider, experienced multiple wins also. She was named best in the senior division for showmanship and her 1,290 pound Angus Chianina, Toby, took the reserve 4-H championship and the reserve grand champion over all.

Greider commented on this, her ninth year of showing, "It's been exciting and a little bit scary. Toby is usually well-behaved, but I really needed to control him tonight." The daughter of Robert and Marian Greider, Columbia, classified the show as "very competitive."

A partial listing of placings follows:

Brubaker Agronomic Holds Tour

LITITZ (Lancaster) — Brubaker Agronomic Consulting Service (BACS) sponsored a Farm Research Tour last Tuesday. A group of 34 farmers, and agbusinessmen participated on the bus tour across Lancaster County, stopping at eight farms to view Replicated Field Research Plots.

A discussion was led at each stop by one of the accompanying Agronomists, consisting of Bruce Smith, Richard Kauffman, Curtis Aspril, Mitchell Woodward, Martin Campfield and Michael Brubaker.

During the lunch break held in a Hempfield Twp. community park pavilion, agronomists Michael Brubaker and Mitchell Woodward spoke about farm legislation and additional test plot data. Woodward quoted statistics from PSU Extension Service's work that suggested little additional yield increases were achieved when commercial Nitrogen was applied after manure applications. (More data is currently being collected in this area.) Woodward later spoke of Penn State's new Nitrogen Soil test which will be available in the spring.

Lancaster County Commissioner Robert Breneman then addressed the group and spoke of the benefits of farm research. The commissioner also touched on the importance of the Citizens Advisory Panel which is currently studying solutions to the county's excessive manure, sludge and septic problems. He emphasized the committee is not only studying and working on a plan to handle excess manures but is also investigating urban wastes.

Gerald Heistand, from Lancaster County Conservation District, demonstrated the district owned Slit-till implement. The tillage tool was operated in a field where the tour group was able to closely inspect the results. Heistand told the group that this new tillage tool has the ability to work the soil but also manages to leave enough soil residue to slow costly erosion.

The bus tour concluded at 2:45 p.m. and Michael Brubaker told the group the tour will continue to be an annual event open to the public.

Agway Acquires Milford Fertilizer

SYRACUSE, NY — Agway has completed its acquisition of Milford Fertilizer Company, headquartered in Milford, Del.

The 50-year-old Milford Fertilizer Company was owned and operated by Robert A. Fischer and his family.

Philip W. Ashcraft, Agway vice president, Crop Services, states that under Agway ownership, Milford Fertilizer will operate as an independent business entity with Robert A. Fischer Jr. as its president.

"Under the continued leadership of Bobby Fischer Jr. and the Milford Fertilizer sales staff and other employees, this blending of Agway and Milford resources bring synergies which are beneficial for farmers in the region," Ashcraft said.

Farmland Preservation Meeting Planned

CARLISLE (Cumberland) — On Saturday, October 15, 1988 from 2:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. a forum addressing the issues of preserving farmland will be held in the mansion at Kings Gap Environmental Education and Training Center.

A panel consisting of a supporter of House Bill 442 (Farmland Preservation), a farmland preservation specialist, a county planner, and a farmer will discuss how we can preserve farmland. This discussion will be followed by a question and answer period.

This program is free of charge and designed for farmers and future farmers. You are welcome to come to Kings Gap to participate in any or all of our programs. For more information call the Center at (717) 486-5031. The Center's entrance is on the Pine Road, one mile east of the Huntsdale Fish Hatchery.

Youth Livestock Sale At Beaver Fair Auctions 46 Animals

BY CRAIG BINGMAN
Snyder Co. Correspondent

BEAVER SPRINGS (Beaver) — The 60th annual Beaver Fair was the setting for the youth livestock sale on September 21. More than 20 bidders attended to participate in the auctioning off of 46 quality market lambs and hogs. Twenty-four FFA and 4-H youths showed animals.

The FFA grand champion market lamb, owned by Matt Zerby, was auctioned off for $2.20 per pound. The 110-pound Columbia crossbred lamb was sold to Longacre's Auctioneering of Selinsgrove. Matt is the son of Isabel and Nevin Zerby of Beaver Springs.

Henry Zerby, brother of Matt, was the owner of the FFA reserve champion market lamb. His 132-pound Suffolk lamb brought $1.60 per pound and was sold to Ken Hassinger and Neil Courtney Auctioneering of McClure.

The FFA grand champion market hog was owned by Lynn Klingler. His 220-pound Yorkshire hog sold to Hatfield Packing for $2.30 per pound. Lynn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Klingler of Selinsgrove.

Henry Zerby also had the FFA reserve grand champion market hog. Henry sold his 250-pound Yorkshire hog for $1.80 per pound to Farm Credit Service of Middleburg.

Other special features at the auction were the presentation of a personalized sheep belt to David Bailey for his work with the sheep industry in Snyder County. Dave, a four-county livestock extension agent, was presented the belt by Robert Richard, representing the Happy Valley 4-H livestock club.

A special award also was presented by Lewis Meiser Jr. to the youth with the supreme ewe of the youth breeding show. A $50 savings bond went to Matt Zerby of Beaver Springs for his Columbia ewe.

Average prices at the auction were: $.88 for lambs and $.80 for hogs. Average weights were 101 and 215 pounds for lambs and hogs respectively. Total volume sales for the evening were $5307.72. There were no steers sold at the auction. Ray Long of Port Royal was the auctioneer.

The grand champion hog, owned by Lynn Klingler, right, was purchased by Lynn Schwalm, middle, of Hatfield Packing. With them is the contending bidder, Bill Sheaffer of Sunset Ice Cream.

ACA Board Discusses Future Of U.S. Agriculture

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Orville Freeman, former Secretary of Agriculture and president of the Agriculture Council of America, expressed concern today over the many misconceptions of the current drought situation. Commenting at the ACA Board Meeting on September 16 Freeman said, "because drought-related concerns have been drawing public attention toward fears of scarcity, many Americans do not realize the extent of America's extraordinary productive capacity. This could hurt U.S. exports, and, in turn, U.S. agricultural growth."

Freeman says, "U.S. agriculture is only using 60 percent of its productive capacity. This leaves 40 percent available for other uses." One of the topics addressed at the ACA Annual meeting, which focused on agriculture's challenges in the 1900's, was how to use this 40 percent humanely and constructively.

"The best way," suggests Freeman, "is to continue to build our commercial export markets around the world." The thrust of ACA's Export Initiative program is to build strong worldwide demand followed by good prices in the marketplace and growing commercial markets. Freeman believes that this program, when integrated with a program of economic developmental assistance, is the most cost-efficient way to assure sustained growth of U.S. agriculture.

One session of the ACA Annual Meeting was devoted to a panel discussion on identifying potential markets for U.S. agricultural products. Panelists focused on the industrial world, the Third World, centrally planned economies, and biotechnology. Another session of the meeting was devoted to developing an "action plan" for building export markets. And, luncheon speaker, Michael Petit, Director of The World Bank Agricultural Department, also contributed to the major theme of using, not idling, U.S. agriculture's productive capacity by discussing this challenge in terms of the debt overhang and its implications for U.S. agriculture's future productive power.

The ACA Board of Directors agrees that exports are the key to America's renewed rural prosperity. Bud Porter of Deere and Company and immediate past Chairman of the Board says, "the Agriculture Council of America is the only umbrella organization encompassing all of agriculture. It is in ACA's best interest and agriculture's best interest, to work together toward total recovery of rural America." Although Porter has handed the gavel over to current Chairman, Bud Leuthold (National Association of Wheat Growers) and Chairman-Elect, Bill Kirk (I.E. Du Pont), he plans to remain actively involved as a member of the operating committee.

The Agriculture Council of America and the ACA education Foundation are national non-profit organizations with individual and business members from all sectors of the U.S. Food and Fiber system, including major producer organizations throughout the country.

Awards Presented To Penn State Ag Engineers

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre) — Several faculty members in the department of agricultural engineering at Penn State received Extension Blue Ribbon Education Aids Awards from the American Society of Agricultural Engineers at the society's annual meeting in Rapid City, SD, in June.

The awards recognize "outstanding effort and achievement in the development of noteworthy educational aids." The competition, which includes publications, models and displays, slides and filmstrips, videos and motion pictures, extension methods, plans, computer programs and interactive videos, is open to agricutlural engineers in industry and public service. Winning educational projects and faculty developers at Penn State are:

• "Sprayers for Small Scale Agriculture", TV Films and motion pictures category; Donald R. Daum, professor of agricultural engineering, with production assistance from Paul Ruskin of Agricultural Information Services.

• "Safeguarding Wells and Springs from Bacterial Contamination", Publications-bulletins and circulars, Joe Makuch, project associate, and William Sharpe, associate professor of forest hydrology, with production assistance from Evelyn Buckalew and Sookyoung Cho of Agricultural Information Services.

• "Manure Management for Environmental Protection," Publications-bulletins and circulars; William J. Bowers, Soil Conservation Service; Clarence H. Collison, associate professor of entomology; Robert E. Graves, professor of agricultural engineering; and Dennis J. Murphy, associate professor of agricultural engineering, with production assistance from Dana Zuhlke and Sookyoung Cho of Agricultural Information Services.

• "Manure Management Manual," Publications-manuals; Robert E. Graves with production assistance from Dana Zuhlke and Sookyoung Cho of Agricultural Information Services.

• "Dairy Manuare Management;" "Poultry Manure Management"; Horse, Sheep, Goat and Small Animal Manure Management"; and "Veal Calf Manure Management," Publications-bulletins and circulars; William J. Bowers, Soil Conservation Service; Robert E. Graves, professor of agricultural engineering; Richard W. Guest, professor of agricultural engineering at Cornell University; Daniel J. Meyer, associate professor of agricultural engineering; and Herbert C. Jordan, associate professor of poultry science; with production assistance from Agricultural Information Services.

How Goes The Advertising?

Many of you are aware that there's been a large advertising campaign under way to stimulate pork sales. Is this campaign working? If so, how has it affected pork sales?

According to Glenn Grimes, market consultant for the National Pork Producers Council (NPPC), the effects of the advertising have been positive. As a matter of fact, in the first four months of 1988, pork sales increased over 5 percent from a year ago, with average retail prices being about the same.

Now we all know that market hog prices aren't as high as they were a year ago. Some of you may be wondering why this is so? After all, we've been contributing to the checkoff program and have funded a lot of promotional efforts. So what's depressing prices?

The answer, as I've written before, is all in the supply and demand curve. As production goes up, if demand remains the same, prices have to fall. If it weren't for the promotional efforts of the pork board, prices would be lower than they currently are.

The philosophy of most hog producers is that, if prices are

York County Sheep, Swine Roundup Held

THOMASVILLE (York) — The York County 4-H Sheep & Swine Club members held their annual combined Roundup on September 18 & 19 at Weikert's Livestock Buying Station.

During the show, the members and spectators saw the 115-pound lamb of Julie Kern of York winning grand champion honors and the 125-pound lamb of Mike Klinedinst of Stewartstown, receiving the reserve grand champion honors.

In the swine judging division of the day, the 235-pound market pig shown by Joshua Hoffman of Dover, was selected as grand champion while the reserve was shown by Kim Frantz of Seven Valleys. Kim's market pig was from a litter that she raised herself.

During the sale Monday evening, September 19, the champion market lamb was purchased by Blaine Rentzel, auctioneer of Emigsville and the reserve grand champion was purchased by Sam's Oak Repair of Glen Rock. The members sold a total of 31 lambs for an average price of $99.19 per hundred weight with the champions and $87.07 per hundred weight without the champions. The average weight of the market lambs was 113.23 pounds with champions and 112.76 pounds without champions.

Julie Kern, right, exhibited the grand champion market lamb at the York County Sheep and Swine Roundup. Her 115-pound lamb was purchased by Blaine Rentzel, an auctioneer from Emigsville.

The grand champion market hog was owned by Joshua Hoffman, right. He sold his animals to Dover Mini Storage, which was represented by Ken and Deb Snyder and family.

The market swine sale followed right after the lambs with the champion being sold to Dover Mini Storage of Dover and the reserve grand champion being sold again to Sam's Oak Repair of Glen Rock. The 4-H swine members offered a total of 68 head of market pigs for an average of $74.87 per hundred weight with champions and $68.31 per hundred weight without champions. The average weight was 228.97 pounds with champions and 228.86 pounds without champions.

good, expand the herd and capitalize on the high prices. It's the American way to try and better yourself and your family by making more money when the opportunity arises. But, since the swine industry has been in this situation before, we all know the outcome of this response — over-production, a flooded market and lower prices. Most other livestock markets are not as volatile as the hog market.

Since hogs are so prolific, producers can easily pull gilts off the finishing floor to expand their breeding herds. It only takes about 10 months for a deficiency of pork to become a surplus.

Advertising can only make up for part of this surplus. We, as producers, must realize that, regardless of what anyone tells us, there's a limit to the amount of pork people are willing to eat.

So why advertise? If you think back to last night when you were watching TV, you'll remember that there were quite a few commercials between and during your favorite programs. Do you think that McDonalds, General Motors and Lazy-Boy are throwing away the hundreds of thousands of dollars they spend on prime time advertising just to break up the monotony of a television show?

I can assure you that these big corporations wouldn't spend one of those dollars if there wasn't a payback, and the payback in this case is increased sales and name recognition. The same can be true for pork, as well as other commodities.

Why should pig producers advertise? Isn't this the job of retailers who want to sell pork-based products? The fact is, everyone involved in the production, processing and retailing of a commodity ought to be involved in promoting it.

Look at the supermarket flyers that come in the mail, and you'll notice that they plug many different items including pork products. The same ads may appear in your newspaper and occasionally on the radio or local TV. Grocery stores sell a whole host of products, so they can't be expected to give pork total coverage in their promotions. That means it's up to producers and packers to see to it that pork gets adequately promoted.

So you think the packer isn't doing his fair share of advertising? Think for a minute about the packer's business. It's not aimed directly at the consumer even though packers sometimes get involved in consumer advertising (as Oscar Meyer has done). Instead, their sales pitch is aimed as the retailer or, in many cases, chain store management.

Packers must advertise their products in the magazines food retailers read, since these are the people who will buy large quantities of the processed products. It's impossible to expect packers or retailers to do the entire job of promoting pork. Producers, too, have a lot to gain from an advertising campaign.

Is your money well spent? Will the checkoff continue? This is entirely up to you, the pork producer, to decide. If you have any questions about the upcoming referendum, an 800 hot line has been set up by NPPC to assist you in getting the necessary information. The number to call is 1-800-255-2255, Extension NPPC.

FARM MANAGEMENT

By John DeFassio
PSU Farm Management Agent

Tax simplification! Isn't it great? Just when you think you are beginning to understand the new tax law changes another wrinkle appears. One thing is clear: tax simplification was intended to raise revenue (not yours, the federal government's) and Section 89 is no exception.

IRS Code Section 89 entitled "Benefits Provided Under Certain Employee Benefit Plans" are the nondiscrimination rules established to insure consistent and uniform treatment of all fringe benefits. This is the section of the code, as amended in 1986, that allows employee benefits to be excluded from taxable income. The exclusion from income is granted when the benefits are provided to a broad cross section of employees. This section of the code becomes effective January 1, 1989.

"So What?" You ask. "I treat all my employees the same. Besides I don't even offer a pension plan!"

Few Exemptions

Let me explain just a little more. The certain plans refer to all employee benefits including group-term life, accident or health insurance plans. It also refers to employer-offered group service plans such as legal, educational or dependent care programs. Section 89 applies to all employers. There are no "farm" exemptions, no "size" exemptions and no "not for profit" exemptions.

Many farm employers, competing with industry for employees, have offered health insurance coverage to their employees. To comply with Sec. 89 the plan must now be in writing. The plan must give employees legally enforceable rights to accrued benefits; it must provide employees with a written notice of what benefits are provided under the plan; it must also be for the employees exclusive benefit and the plan must be established for an indefinite period.

I'll Get A Plan When . . .

"OK" you say. "When the IRS asks for my plan I'll get one written." That would be nice, except you are required to file your plan with the IRS in order to pay nontaxable benefits. Your alternative is to add the fringe benefits to your employee's wages and pay the additional employment taxes (Social Security) and, if applicable, unemployment taxes (both state and federal) on the additional gross income.

Of course, this also means the employee will pay income tax on the additional gross income. You could add to the employees wages additional cash to cover that added income tax. But, that too raises all the taxes right down the line. You were wondering how this law would raise revenue (not your's, the Federal government's). Now you know!

Pay Now, Or Pay Later

The intent of this law is to increase benefits to more employees, particularly lower paid employees. Section 89 also addresses a series of formulae to make sure that "highly compensated employees" do not receive proportionately more in benefits than any other class of employee. Farm corporations which pay a bonus or provide special benefits to its officers should pay close attention to those provisions.

"All right, Let them catch me." Unfortunately I have heard this comment from one rebellious farmer.

National Hereford Association Reports Banner Year

KANSAS CITY, MO — The American Hereford Association reports a banner year in all segments of activities as of the close of business on August 31. The 1988 fiscal year, as compared to the previous fiscal year, showed significant increases in registrations of Herefords, transfers to new owners, enrollments in the Total Performance Records program, cattle breeders applying for new memberships in the AHA and average prices of cattle sold as reported in production and consignment sales.

Registrations of Hereford cattle during the year showed a five percent increase over the previous year. Texas, the nation's largest cattle state and the leading state in Hereford registrations, increased 11 percent. Other traditionally strong states in beef cattle production also showed significant increases. Oklahoma, number two in registrations, came in with a nine percent increase; Nebraska, third in registrations, up 13 percent; Montana, fourth, and Kansas, fifth, both increased three percent in Hereford registrations.

There was a slight increase in total transfers of Herefords to new owners; however, the demand for Herefords by the commercial cattle industry was largely responsible for a major increase of five percent in bull transfers.

The Total Performance Records program, which measures the economically important traits of birth weights, weaning weights, yearling weights, yearling height, scrotal circumference and milking ability, found enrollments of cow herds up four and one-half percent, while weaning and yearling weights processed were up three percent. In addition, the 1988 sire evaluation report was based on an analysis of 1,277,130 animal records resulting in expected progeny difference (EPD) data for 1,939 proven bulls and 19,255 young potential sires born in 1987.

New breeders joined the Hereford fraternity during the past year at an increase of 15 percent over new AHA memberships issued in the previous year.

Production and consignment sales saw both a big increase in prices and the number of head sold, and reached the highest figures in the 107-year history of the AHA. Gross prices received by Hereford breeders jumped more than $6.4 million over the previous fiscal year with a total of $26,896,421. The average price of all Herefords sold at public auction was $1,837, an increase of $355 per head.

The demand for Hereford bulls saw an increase of 22 percent in the number sold, with average prices up $212 per head, an increase of 12 percent, to average $2,078 per bull. The gross income on bulls totaled $21,155,657, an increase of more than $5.5 million.

"These increases across the board in all AHA activities reflect several things, but the improved market of the beef cattle industry and the return to basic animal production striving for the optimum rather than the maximum are key reasons for this upward trend," stated H.H. (Hop) Dickenson, the AHA's executive vice president.

"Herefords have been a mainstay in the cattle population for many years. The recent increased popularity is largely due to breeders supplying performance bulls for the commercial industry that are in line with what the cattlemen want and need," Dickenson added.

be expensive. First, there is a 28% excise tax on the illegal benefits paid. As if that wasn't enough, the IRS will add the illegal deduction to the employees wages. This will not only increase the amount of income tax due from the employee, the employer will be accessed all the additional employment and, where applicable, unemployment taxes.

In addition, penalties and interest will be accessed on all of the late employment and, if applicable, unemployment taxes due because of the illegal deduction. The excise tax will continue until a written plan is filed. My only reply to "let them catch me" is, if you don't have the money to do it right the first time where are you going to get the money to do it over again?

You will find many experts still trying to make sense of this section. I know that learning about this section was a surprise to me and I thought you might like to learn about it, too. For more information about Section 89 consult your tax or legal advisor.

- Durable Patz hook-and-eye link chain. Progression forging builds extra strength into hook-and-eye link contact points. Final heat treating increases hardness, strength and wear resistance.
- Four-tooth sprocket drives every link behind the hook--the link's thickest and strongest point.
- Chain flexibility for various layouts.
- Select 2" flites for solid manure or 4" high flites for slurry manure. New, thicker flites are welded to Patz links. ½-in.-thick wear shoes extend flite life.
- Three drive unit sizes match your gutter length and allow expansion.
- Corner wheel top-and-bottom flanges guide the chain around the corner. Corner wheel assemblies remove easily for service without concrete breakout.
- Heavier red link available for extremely long pulls.

Corn-Based Chemicals To Be Discussed At Conference

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — Fuel ethanol and liquid corn sweeteners are already facts of life. Large-scale production of corn-based plastics and de-icing compounds is just around the bend. And just over the horizon lies a whole new array of corn-based chemicals that may multiply the industrial uses of a renewable resource -- and add value to each bushel produced.

New ideas and developments in making industrial chemicals from corn will be discussed at the 2nd Corn Utilization Conference, November 17-18 at the Airport Radisson Hotel, Columbus, Ohio, sponsored by Funk Seeds International and the National Corn Growers Association (NCGA). Dr. George T. Tsao, professor and director of the Laboratory of Renewable Resources Engineering at Purdue University, will chair a special break-out session on the topic of corn-based chemicals. The possibilities to be explored include butanol-acetone fermentation; production of sucrose from corn; cyclodextrins and their applications; cornstarch as a herbicide encapsulation agent; and generation of soluble proteins from corn gluten.

 Butanol-acetone fermentation. With funding provided by the U.S. Department of Energy and the NCGA, Battelle Memorial Institute of Columbus is continuing research into a process which could drastically reduce the cost of producing butanol, a high cetane alcohol used as an industrial solvent and fuel additive, through fermentation.

The process by which butanol and acetone, another solvent, are derived from corn was discovered around World War I and was widely used until the 1930s, says Dr. Robert Busche of Bio En-Gene-Er Associates, Wilmington, DE. "With the introduction of petrochemicals, however, the cost of producing butanol through fermentation became prohibitive," says Busche, who will be appearing on the program with Dr. Bill Allen of the Battelle Institute. "Today the cost of just the fermentation alone is about $1.25 per pound of butanol while the entire cost, including product recovery, of producing butanol from petrochemicals is currently around 35 cents per pound."

The reason for the high cost is a phenomenon called 'product inhibition,' Busche explains. "Once butanol concentration reaches approximately one percent, the organisms which cause the fermentation stop producing it. Battelle's process eliminates this problem by immediately removing the product with an organic solvent."

Busche estimates the new process could bring the cost of butanol fermentation and recovery down to 56 cents per pound, still more than the conventional process, but petroleum price hikes similar to those experienced in the 1970s could easily eliminate that disadvantage.

Potentially the patented process could be applied not only to butanol, but also to other chemicals which could be produced through fermentation, says Allen. "With intensive effort, the process could be commerically available to two to five years," he says.

 Production of sucrose from corn. Conventional wet milling and refining of corn produces a simple sugar called glucose. Bio-Technical Resources, Inc., a private research laboratory in Manitowoc, WI, is perfecting a one-step fermentation process that takes the glucose and converts it into sucrose, the sugar commonly produced from sugar beets and cane.

"The fermentation results in a 20 percent sucrose solution which then is subjected to conventional refining techniques to produce crystalline sugar," says Dr. Mike Sfat of Bio-Technical Resources. "We have got the process down to a cost of around 40 cents per pound of sugar. Within two or three years, we hope to achieve our target cost of 20 cents a pound. At that point, sucrose produced from corn would be competitive with beet or cane sugar."

The potential market for corn-based sucrose would be 500 million bushels of corn each year, Sfat estimates. "High fructose corn syrup cannot replace sucrose in many food industry applications," he says. "The growth in liquid corn sweetener use is diminishing and probably is reaching a plateau."

 Cyclodextrins. Because of their ability to "capture" other molecules within themselves, thereby modifying their chemical and physical properties, cyclodextrins (donut-shaped carbohydrate molecules) offer a wide range of stabilizing and delivery applications across the chemical processing, pharmaceutical, personal care and food industries.

"First observed in the 1890s, cyclodextrins were known for years as high-priced laboratory curiousities," says George Reed of American Maize Product Company, Hammond, IN. "Now, after five years of research and development, American Maize has learned how to economically produce cyclodextrins from corn starch. Initial commercial sales are unfolding in photochemical and ag chemical markets, and we're currently working with the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) to gain clearance for cyclodextrins in pharmaceutical and food applications."

Cyclodextrins are molecular encapsulators which can modify the taste, texture, color and aroma of processed foods or shield highly reactive molecules from the degrating effects of heat, light and oxygen, for application in controlled, targeted or sustained-release delivery systems.

 Corn starch encapsulation. Using corn starch to encapsulate slow-release herbicides has proven effective, says Dr. R.E. Wing of the ARS-USDA Northern Regional Research Center in Peoria, IL. "Corn starch costs only 8 to 10 cents per pound, making it more economical than petrochemical-based carriers," Wing explains. "And it has the advantage of being FDA-approved for this purpose. We tried other starch-based agents, but found we had to add another chemical to make them work."

Companies already have expressed interest in corn starch as a slow-release carrier. Future uses along this line might include starch-based capsules for prescription drugs and vitamins.

 Corn gluten hydrolysis. Julie Hardwick, Iowa State University researcher, will present a paper on the hydrolyzing of corn gluten to convert insoluble proteins into soluble form. "The value of this would be in the production of high-protein food and feed additives," says Dr. C.E. Glatz, Professor of Chemical Engineering at Iowa State. "Much the same thing is done now with soybeans, but soybean protein is naturally much easier to hydrolyze than corn gluten. We're trying different enzymes to enhance the process of corn gluten hydrolysis."

Papers summarizing the research results presented at the Corn Utilization Conference will be available before the presentation to all registered conference participants, says Dan Ragsdale, NCGA Director of Research.

Registration deadline for the conference is Oct. 15, 1988. The cost of registration is $145 for NCGA members and $295 for non-members. For more information, contact Ann at NCGA headquarters; 1000 Executive Parkway, Suite 105, St. Louis, MO 63141, (314) 275-9915.

1. ALFALFA:
   - A. TOPDRESS: after this cutting to guard against winter kill.
   - B. FALL WEED CONTROL: Some weeds lower protein content, feed value and production. Almost all weeds make hay less palatable to animals. Weeds shorten the life of the stand, too. When growing alfalfa you make more money by growing it clean with PRINCEP Cal 90 (Alfalfa Label). For best results apply immediately after last cutting. Don't Wait!!
2. SMALL GRAINS: We have starter fertilizer, quality wheat and barley seed. Also COVER CROP RYE in bags or spreaders.
3. LIME: We offer prompt delivery of Martin Ag Limestone - Hi Cal or Hi Mag.
